AGRICULTURAL MEETING IN WACO FURNISHES SURVEY OF TEAM TRIPS.

FUTURE PLANS OUTLINED

WORK OF EDUCATION TO BE CONTINUED THIS WEEK WITH ADDITIONAL AUTO TRIPS.

Many recruits joined the "Army of Food Producers" at the great joint meeting of the various organizations which have been working during the past week to increase food production in McLennan county at the Chamber of Commerce yesterday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock. W. W. Woodson and J. M. Penland presided over the gathering. It was decided at the meeting to carry on the work of education this week, and further meetings will be held throughout the county at points and times to be designated within the next forty-eight hours. The gathering was featured by patriotic demonstrations. It also was decided that all captains of teams which have been organized in the places visited last week will have a luncheon in Waco next Saturday, when plans for further work and a summing up of work done will receive attention.

Names Committee.

W. W. Woodson named the following committee to co-operate with the Cotton Palace in arranging for agricultural exhibits: J. W. Mann, Robinson, chairman; John Gorham, Bosqueville; Ed Savage, Axtell; George W. Connally, Cardfield's Ranch; Jeff Quillian, Gholson.

"Keep business good" was emphasized by J. M. Penland at the meeting, who urged that the people go on with business, building, commerce, that corporations and railroad heads generally keep things moving and labor employed.

In opening the meeting W. W. Woodson spoke of the spirit of co-operation which had been met everywhere among farmers last week, and gave facts and figures bearing on the food supply which showed that McLennan county farmers had not been doing enough in that direction, these facts having been secured from the farmers themselves in answer to questions, propounded during the campaign last week. He specially thanked John Gorham, Dr. J. D. Lovelace and Mike McNamara for faithful services rendered. In speaking of the fact that the work is to be carried forward Mr. Penland said that any surplus of vegetables should be canned and kept, and that practical experts will come here to tell how to do this; also to teach proper handling of sweet potatoes. A comprehensive report then was submitted regarding the work done by teams which were sent out by the Chamber of Commerce and other organizations last week.

Farmers Will Aid.

Nearly all farmers agreed to increase their food crops, said Mr. Woodson, and 1,465 people were directly reached by the committees. The newspapers had co-operated splendidly, said Mr. Woodson, reaching thousands by their publications. A census of the food condition was taken and 254 farmers reported. The report of inquiries made of farmers showed the following, which Chairman Woodson thought was enough to make people think: Out of 254 farmers questioned the following was shown: One hundred and fifty-eight had twenty-five or more hens; 122 had one or more brood sows; 137 had two or more milch cows; 199 had gardens of one-tenth of an acre or more; 158 had sold poultry during the past year; 184 sold meat in the past year; 92 sold corn and other feed stuffs; 122 raised all of their meat. This report showed that McLennan county must do more to feed itself, said Chairman Woodson.

Says Banks Will Aid.

A combined report was made through J. P. Everett for the Y. M. B. L., Welfare League, Rotary and Lions clubs. The report covered garden work in the city and was encouraging.

A report was made by J. M. Penland, chairman of the other team which made the county canvass last week. Mr. Woodson having been in charge of the team reported in detail above. Mr. Penland said his committee

WELFARE LEAGUE IN UNIQUE PLAN

MOVEMENT WILL BE LAUNCHED TO COLLECT ALL RUBBISH OF CITY IN BIG CLEAN-UP.

What promises to be one of the most systematic and thorough clean-up campaigns in the history of this city will be launched at a meeting of the Waco Welfare League at the public library tomorrow afternoon at 4 o'clock.

It will be known as the Waco Welfare League clean-up campaign. It will be a profitable clean-up. People in their homes, people in their offices, stores, factories and institutions of all kinds will be asked to collect all rubbish. After this has been assembled in each home, business house and other places, a day will be set aside for the collection and delivery of the entire accumulation to some central point and the entire collection of all these things will be sold and the proceeds utilized to further the work of the Welfare League of this city. Committees have for the past few days appeared before many of the various organizations of the city, soliciting their co-operation and support in carrying out this plan, and it is expected that these committees will be in a position to report the results of their work to the meeting tomorrow afternoon at the public library. The plan closely follows a similar idea carried out in Spokane, which netted $8,000 as a result.

CITY MANAGER COMMITTEE WILL MEET MONDAY NIGHT

A meeting of the executive committee of the city manager plan has been called for Monday night, 8 o'clock, Chamber of Commerce, by Chairman J. M. Penland. At this meeting the executive committee will organize and possibly plan for some of the work which it has set itself to do on call of citizens. There are fifty members of the committee.

SAY REPUTATION OF BUTLER "BAD"

TESTIMONY IN SPANELL TRIAL YESTERDAY LARGELY TAKEN UP WITH THIS FEATURE.

Coleman, April 28.—After long argument between counsel over the admissibility of testimony concerning alleged remarks about women by Lieut. Col. M. C. Butler, for whose killing Harry J. Spanell is on trial here, court sustained the state's objection late today and recessed until Monday, when Spanell is expected to take the stand in his own behalf. Arguments occupied practically all the afternoon court session, while during the forenoon several defense character witnesses testified. These witnesses testified Butler's reputation as to women was "bad" and that of Spanell was good.

Argue Poirier's Testimony.

Arguments arose over the admissibility of testimony of A. Poirier of Pharr, Texas, a defense witness, who attempted to relate alleged disrespectful remarks made by Colonel Butler about women present at a social event at Pharr, where Butler was stationed previous to being transferred to Alpine. The state objected, while the defense contended the alleged remarks would show the army officer's attitude toward women in general. The jury was excluded and women ordered from court and Poirier then permitted to relate the remarks in presence of counsel.

After prolonged argument, Judge Woodward, presiding, sustained the state's objection, ruling Poirier's testimony was not admissible.

Butler's Reputation Bad.

When John Buckhart, a Mission farmer, testified today that Butler's reputation regarding women was "very bad," counsel for the state asked him if he had any interest in Spanell.

"Nothing, only I want to see him come clear," replied Buckhart. "I think he did exactly right."

J. G. McNary, a banker, said he first knew Spanell at Leipzig, Germany, and that his reputation was good.

S. A. Hargrove, a Mission ranchman, formerly mayor of that town, and C. V. Collins, a contractor of Mission, both testified that Colonel Butler's reputation regarding women while he was at Mission was "bad." Collins said it "could not have been worse."

Questionable Women Mentioned.

Collins said a number of women of questionable character followed the army to Mission. On the cross-examination, the witness was asked to give the names of two married women he had seen with Butler in Mission. He said he would if he had to, but the defense objected and Judge J. O. Woodward sustained the objection.

S. V. Keith, a Mission business man,

VILLA WAS TO PRETEND FRIENDSHIP TO U. S.

By Associated Press. Juarez, April 28.—Francisco Villa was advised by one of his confidential agents in the United States to pretend friendship for the American government, "despite the multitude of wrongs done him" (Villa) by the Washington government, a letter which was taken from Villa's private secretary by Gen. Francisco Murguía stated. The secretary, whose name was Nieto, was captured and executed at San Miguel de Babicora by General Murguía's forces after Villa had escaped from the ranch house.

One of the letters taken was dated New Orleans and signed by Miguel Diaz Lombardo, said to be Villa's choice for provisional president. In one letter Villa was urged to issue a denial that he was present at the Columbus, N. M., raid.

BRITISH TROOPS WIN LONG FRONT

(War Summary.)

By Associated Press. British troops in a desperate attempt to turn the northern wing of Drocourt-Queant line have advanced on a front of nearly ten miles and captured the village of Arleux En Gohelle, nine miles west of Douai.

The most violent fighting marked the battle and successive German counter attacks made at heavy sacrifices failed to check the British.

To the Canadians, conquerors of the famous Vimy ridge, fell the work of capturing Arleux in a brilliant assault. German counter attacks failed to move them and in hand to hand fighting the attacking forces were driven back.

Fierce encounters in which the bayonet and rifle butt were used freely marked the fighting along the rest of the battle front from east of the Vimy ridge south across the Scarpe to Monchy Le Preux. Field Marshal Haig's men also gained ground northeast of Gavrelle, between Gavrelle and Rouex and north of Monchy Le Preux. In addition to their heavy sacrifices in killed and wounded the Germans lost 500 prisoners.

The capture of Arleux widens considerably the British salient in the German positions directly east of Douai, the objective in this fighting. It threatens to the southern defenses of Lens, as well as the village of Drocourt, the northern end of the line, on which military experts say the Germans have pinned their hopes for the safety of Douai and the region it commands.

FLOODS IN RUSSIA.

By Associated Press. Petrograd, April 28.—The inundation which began along the lower Don a few days ago has reached alarming proportions. A large part of Rostov is under water and in the rural districts many persons have perished. The situation of the survivors is critical.

GERMAN CABINET CONFRONTED BY TERRIFIC CRISIS

IS ON MIDDLE GROUND BETWEEN SOCIALISTS AND CONSERVATIVES.

By Associated Press.

The Hague, via London, April 28.—The German cabinet is facing the most terrific situation of its war-time existence in its efforts to find a safe middle ground between the socialists and conservatives. Both parties are becoming more and more insistent and vociferous; the socialists demanding the democratization of the government and peace without conquest or indemnity, while the conservatives are demanding with equal urgency reforms in exactly the opposite direction.

Dr. Diederich Hahn, leader of the agrarian Junker party and member of the reichstag, yesterday delivered a speech in Berlin in which he declared that Germany's submarine success now assured the unconditional surrender of her enemies. He attacked the demands of the socialists and censured the government for continuing so long to maintain diplomatic relations with the United States.

"Has monarchical Germany failed?" he asked. "No," he added, "it stands brilliantly before the world as conqueror. We are today within sight of peace. May it be a real German peace. We hope those who govern us will realize our strength, will keep their nerve and continue to face the enemy as conquerors, not as cowards. Let us keep to Bismarck's policy. Germany's future is a future of battle and conquest."

"Already we have foolishly bestowed a kingdom upon Poland without securing Germany's rights therein."

CAMERON NAMES WOMEN TO HEAD COTTON PALACE WORK

President W. W. Cameron of the Texas Cotton Palace announced yesterday the names of the five women chairmen for the 1917 Texas Cotton Palace. They are: Women's exhibits, Mrs. F. E. Goodman; Woman's Day, will be in charge of the Federation of Women's clubs of this city; Children's Day, Mrs. Fred A. Peck; Better Babies conference, Mrs. F. C. Gaze; opening day, Mrs. A. T. Godshaw. These ladies will have charge of the various features as outlined in connection with the women's departments of the 1917 Cotton Palace exposition. The work of planning the various events in this connection is already under way and with one of the earliest starts that has ever been made on these features of the exposition, it is believed that all past achievements will be excelled.

POSTPONE TRAINING CAMPS OPENING FOR ONE WEEK

By Associated Press. Washington, April 28.—Overwhelmed with applications for admission to the officers' training camps, the war department announced today the postponement of the opening of the camps for one week, "in order to enable a more careful selection to be made of the limited number that can be accommodated." The camps were to have been opened May 8.

CONGRESSMEN WIRE GEORGE TO ATTEMPT IRISH PEACE

By Associated Press. Washington, April 28.—A cablegram urging a settlement of the Irish problem was sent to Premier Lloyd-George tonight by 200 representatives in congress, headed by Speaker Champ Clark. There is great interest in this country in the situation and the Irish home rule question has been discussed by American officials with members of the British commission, now visiting the United States.

LABOR ENLISTS STATE AID TO MARSHAL BOYS

By Associated Press. Washington, April 28.—The labor department today enlisted the aid of all the states in organizing its army of 1,000,000 boys for work on the country's farms this summer. Every governor was asked to name county organizers and to send out proclamations asking boys to join the force, which is known as the United Boys' Working Reserve.

ALLIED ENVOYS PLAN CEREMONY

WILL RE-DEDICATE THEIR EFFORTS BEFORE WASHINGTON'S TOMB.

By Associated Press. Washington, April 28.—With the groundwork laid for a working agreement with America in the common cause against Germany, the British and French war missions will re-dedicate their united efforts to democracy tomorrow in impressive ceremonies at the tomb of George Washington at Mount Vernon.

Through her foreign minister, Arthur J. Balfour, Great Britain will publicly pay homage to the memory of the man who in the name of democracy led the revolution which tore one of the brightest jewels from the British crown.

A wreath will be placed on the tomb by Mr. Balfour as the representative of the British government, signaling a public manifestation of honor seldom equalled in British history.

France, through former Premier Viviani, now minister of justice, and Marshal Joffre, popular idol of the French people, will accord to the father of the American republic the highest honor within the gift of France. In placing a bronze palm leaf on the sarcophagus, France's two leaders will complete the original purpose of their mission to this country in paying homage to America's forefathers, to whose aid France came in 1776.

CONDITION OF CHAS. PARKER REPORTED AS UNCHANGED

Charles Parker, who was injured Thursday near Lorena in an automobile accident, last night at 9 o'clock was resting very well, though still seriously ill. His condition was not worse, it was stated, but there was no visible improvement.

U. S. WILL RAISE ARMY BY DRAFT; BILL IS PASSED

BOTH SENATE AND THE HOUSE OVERWHELMINGLY SUPPORT CONSCRIPTION PLAN.

SENATE FAVORS TEDDY

IS WILLING TO LET HIM TAKE AN ARMY TO FRANCE, BUT HOUSE SAYS "NO."

By Associated Press. Washington, April 28.—By overwhelming majorities both the senate and house passed late tonight the administration bill to raise a war army by selective draft.

The final roll calls brought into line behind the bill many senators, and representatives who had fought for the volunteer system until routed by decisive defeat of volunteer amendments earlier in the day in both houses.

The senate which had voted down the volunteer plan 69 to 18 passed the bill by a vote of 81 to 8. In the house the vote against the volunteer plans was 313 to 109 and by which the bill itself was passed, 397 to 24.

Rolls 21-27 Years.

As passed by the senate the measure provides for the draft of men between the ages of 21 and 27 years while in the house measure the age limits are fixed as 21 and 40. This and lesser discrepancies will be thrashed out in conference early next week, so that the bill may be in the hands of the president as quickly as possible. The war department already has completed plans for carrying it into effect.

Senators who voted against the bill were: Democrats: Gore, Hardwick, Kirby, Thomas and Trammell—5. Republicans: Borah, Gronna and La Follette—3.

Total, 8. Senator Vandaman of Mississippi, democrat, was excused from voting at his own request. He did not give a reason.

The twenty-four representatives who voted in the negative were: Democrats: Burnett, Church, Clark of Florida, Claypool, Cresser, Dill, Dominick, Gordon, Hilliard, Huddleston, Keating, Sears, Sherwood, Sisson—14. Republicans: Bacon, Hayes, King, La Follette, Lundeen of Minnesota, Mason, Nolan, Powers—8. Prohibitionists: Randall. Socialists: London. Total, 24.

Increase Pay.

Both senate and house adopted amendments just before the final roll call which would greatly increase the pay of enlisted men during the war. The house provision would make their pay thirty dollars a month and that approved by the senate would fix it at twenty-nine dollars a month. The present pay is only fifteen dollars.

In the house at the last moment Chairman Fitzgerald of the appropriations committee, objected vigorously to the appropriation of three million dollars carried in the bill for the expenses of the new army and the section finally was eliminated. Mr. Fitzgerald declared that to place this vast sum in the hands of the secretary of war, would make of congress "a mere automaton," and promised that if the section were voted down the committee would provide promptly in a separate measure.

Senator Harding's amendment to the army bill designed to permit Colonel Roosevelt to raise four infantry divisions to go to the European battle front was adopted tonight by the senate 56 to 31. Many democrats voted for the amendment. The amendment does not specifically mention Colonel Roosevelt, but its purpose has been understood and its author referred to the fact it would permit the former president to raise troops to go to Europe. It was not discussed at length.

Senators Ashurst, Broussard, Gore, Hardwick, Hollis, Huston, Johnson of South Dakota, Kirby, McKellar, Myers, Owen, Pomerene, Ransdell, Reed, Robinson, Saulsbury, Thomas, Vandaman, Thompson and Williams, democrats, supported the amendment. Senators Brady, Gronna, La Follette and Warren, republicans, voted against it. A similar proposal had been rejected by the house.

Clark Votes Yes.

Speaker Clark, Democratic Leader Kitchin and Chairman Dent of the military committee, who had favored the volunteer system, all voted for the draft bill on the final roll call.

MEXICANS HEAR THAT NEW COUNTRY BREAKS RELATIONS

By Associated Press.
Mexico City, April 28.—The Mexican government was formally notified today that Guatemala had broken relations with Germany. There are many German planters, coffee exporters and business men in Guatemala, where much German capital also is invested. In some circles here it is felt that the severance of relations may cause many of these Germans to come into Mexico. The communication from the Guatemalan government stating that relations with Germany had been broken has not yet been answered by the Mexican government and probably will bring only an acknowledgment of its receipt.

Ernesto Garza Perez, acting foreign minister, declared that Guatemala's move would not complicate the situation as regards Mexico in any way. It is understood here that Guatemala has thrown strong forces along the boundary between that country and Mexico.

BERNHARDT PROGRESSES DURING PAST FEW DAYS

By Associated Press.
New York, April 28.—Although Mme. Sarah Bernhardt, the famous French actress, who has been critically ill here, has made distinct progress during the week, her condition is still "markedly impaired," according to a statement issued by her physicians tonight. It was said, however, that no complications have arisen.

15 CHICAGO BAKERIES ARE FORCED TO CLOSE DOWN

By Associated Press.
Chicago, April 28.—Fifteen of Chicago's largest bakeries, supplying about 1,000,000 loaves daily, or approximately 80 per cent of the bakery made bread used in the city and its suburbs, were forced to close down tonight after members of the largest bakers' union in Chicago went on strike. The strikers asked an increase in wages from $26 to $28 a week, shorter working hours, the elimination of apprentices and that the superintending foreman of each shop be employed or discharged at the discretion of his subordinates.

It was stated in addition to the fifteen large concerns that seventy smaller bakeries are affected by the strike and fear was expressed that unless a speedy settlement was reached Chicago may experience a bread famine.

CARRANZA WILL NOT GIVE AMNESTY TO REFUGEES

By Associated Press.
Laredo, April 28.—That President Carranza will issue a manifesto immediately following his inauguration to the effect that he will not guarantee amnesty to Mexican refugees in the United States has been semi-officially stated in Mexico City, according to persons arriving from there. Carranza, it is said, has been prompted to issue the manifesto for fear of admitting plotters against the de facto government.

NEGRO WOMAN RECEIVES VICIOUS KNIFE WOUND

She was taken to a hospital but her recovery is doubtful. The husband has been arrested.

tee found many good business men on the farms, the reception everywhere being hearty and in a spirit of co-operation. His report was along the same line and to the same purport as that of Chairman Woodson. The report showed a good attendance and deep interest everywhere. Teams had been organized everywhere to push the food campaign, and the speaker said he just had a report from H. F. Heard to the effect that he had secured eighteen more members for his team. Mr. Penland referred specially to Dr. S. P. Brooks, Dr. J. L. Kesler and Sol Hirschberg as the faithful ones on his team. He said that "Keep business good" should be the slogan everywhere, all public work should go forward, railroads should build and improve, all other concerns should do likewise, citizens should spend money for needed improvements and all business channels should be kept open, with factories running. This was all necessary at this time, and was entirely practical.

W. W. Woodson said banks had plenty of money to aid farmers and others. He scored persons who were buying up flour and other stuff, hoarding it and thus making conditions harder for all.

T. P. Duncan said there was no danger of an immediate food shortage but foolish and needless buying had forced prices up. It is true, he said, that the wheat yield is short in some cases, but there ought to be enough for food and the allies must be aided to some extent. He urged the planting of everything to eat, where practical.

Dr. S. P. Brooks referred to the benefits of the food campaign and said that masses of literature are being sent out along this line, showing general interest. Dr. Brooks urged system, organization, co-operation and a working together. He urged the canning of beans, spinach, peas and many other things. Intensive farming should be done, especially as labor is scarce. Everybody should be willing to take orders and work for the common good, carrying liberty where it ought to go. "I am for peace, but we sometimes have to fight for peace. We are fighting the very things for which the Kaiser stands, and must stand firm and be patient, like England, France, Italy and the others, for the central powers are making a wonderful fight. I merely refer to this to sober the people to the mammoth task ahead, in our effort to help the world in this crisis. I believe the world will get good even out of this world cataclysm. We must look beyond ourselves and our little needs here at home, and get a broader view of the great work ahead of us."

Chairman Woodson referred to the work done by the McLennan County Agricultural association, and asked for volunteers to aid in pushing the food campaign in McLennan county. Many stood, indicating their intention of aiding in the work. Mr. Woodson said that canning clubs are to be organized as a part of the work yet to be done.

John Gorham, president of the Texas Farmers' Congress, spoke on closer co-operation between the man in the city and the one in the country, their interests being mutual. The campaign of the past week had been a wonderful one, with intense interest shown. He urged the planting of food crops as far as possible in McLennan county, and that special care be given to the corn that has been planted. A splendid compliment was paid to Chairman W. W. Woodson and J. M. Penland for their unselfish work.

Hon. W. H. Atwell of Dallas spoke, saying that he found it hard to speak without sounding the note of patriotism. He spoke of the "all around" farm, where the farmers used to raise their food and feed, first of all, and urged Texas to get on this basis. The war must be won in the fields and by full stomachs, said the speaker. He thought the government of the United States worth fighting for. Figures were given showing that foodstuffs are actually shorter than they were a year ago. The speaker urged more practicality among the girls and boys of this country and a lesson of discipline also must be learned, he said. He commended the plans of President Wilson in the fight for republican government and universal liberty. "The Hohenzollerns will follow the Romanoffs. At first my faith in God was shaken by this war, but now it seems to me I can see the light breaking, and can see the hand of God guiding the bark of human liberty and leading the vanguard of justice, right and truth," said the speaker amid applause. He dignified the man of honest toil, and said that all have a part in this task of emancipation—a task which will make the United States yet a greater and grander influence in the world. A plea for broader and deeper appreciation of the Stars and Stripes was delivered by Judge Atwell, who electrified his hearers, receiving round after round of applause.

W. W. Woodson asked for continued co-operation in the agricultural work and that all join the "Army of Food Producers" in McLennan county.

From a card in his pocket the police said they believed the man was Daniel Klein, 34 years old, an electrical worker.

said that Butler's reputation regarding women was not good. He gave the names of a few women with whom Butler had been, he said.

The state then objected when A. Poirier of Pharr attempted to narrate an alleged conversation between himself and Butler at the social event in Pharr, when he said Butler made disrespectful remarks about women present.

Says Attentions Improper.

Hood Hill testified that Butler's attentions to women were improper. On the cross-examination, Hill said he loaned Poirier $40 during the San Angelo trial of Spanell for the killing of Mrs. Spanell, of which he was acquitted. He said Poirier had promised him, as payment, the script he would receive for his testimony at the present trial. Hill said Poirier had worked for him, contradicting a statement that Hill had not employed him. Recross followed.

Spanell on Stand Monday.

Court recessed late today until Monday, after a two hours' argument over the admissibility of the testimony of Poirier. Prolonged arguments upset plans for Spanell to testify today. He will take the stand Monday, it is stated.

Trying to Please.

He had opened up a fishshop, and he ordered a new sign painted, of which he was very proud. It read, "Fresh Fish Sold Here."

"What did you put the word 'fresh' in for?" said his first customer. "You wouldn't sell them if they weren't fresh, would you?"

He painted out the word, leaving just, "Fish Sold Here."

"Why do you say 'here'?" asked his second customer. "You're not selling them anywhere else, are you?"

So he rubbed out the word "here."

"Why use 'Sold'?" asked the next customer. "You're not giving them away, are you?"

So he rubbed out everything but the word "Fish," remarking:

"Well, nobody can find fault with that sign now, anyway."

A moment later another customer came in.

"I don't see the use of that sign 'Fish' up there," said he, "when you can smell them a mile away."—"Tit-Bits."

AUTO SHINE-O FIRM REPORTS BUSINESS GOOD

Tom Caldwell, manufacturer of Auto Shine-O, has been on a business trip the past week in Austin and adjacent cities. He reports that he is forcibly impressed by the prosperity in evidence on every hand especially on the farms and small towns.

Mr. Caldwell said: "The recent good rains have made the farmers happy and all of them are expecting bumper crops this season. The only exception to this is the poor showing of oats in some sections. This, however, is more than compensated for by other crops. Cotton crops are expected to be very good. Most of the farmers have in good gardens and are raising much more this year in the way of foodstuffs than ever before."

Mr. Caldwell states that while in Austin he booked two good orders for the Shear company for Auto Shine-O.

BRITISH RENEW OFFENSIVE ON RIVER SCARPE

FURIOUS FIGHTING CHARACTERIZES STRUGGLE, BEGINNING EARLY SATURDAY.

By Associated Press.

Furious fighting characterized a renewed British offensive along a ten mile sector of the French front from the Scarpe river northward to the city of Lens, which began early Saturday morning and apparently still is in progress.

Unofficial reports from the British front indicate that the British were successful on the northern part of the battle sector and that they pressed forward more than a mile and occupied the town of Arleux and part of Oppy. Desperate resistance was encountered on the southern half of the sector between Gavrelle and Roeux. At the latter place the fighting was described as the "fiercest imaginable." German counter attacks were delivered as soon as the British scored any advance.

The British faced a well organized trench system that only partly had been destroyed by the preliminary bombardment. Early reports from the battle showed that the British for the time at least had broadened the wedge they previously drove into the German lines near Gavrelle.

Further south between St. Quentin and the river Oise, the French kept the Germans busy with an intense artillery bombardment. A heavy artillery duel also was in progress in the Champagne but no infantry fighting of importance was reported along that part of the front occupied by French troops.

Guatemala is the latest nation to join the ranks of Germany's adversaries by breaking off diplomatic relations on Saturday, handing his passports to the German minister and offering to the United States use of her waters, ports and railways, "for the common defense."

Significance of an important military move in Germany was seen in the closing of the German-Swiss frontier to travelers and the postal service.

Reports that the premier of Bavaria, Count Hertling, will go to Vienna to discuss peace prospects with the Austro-Hungarian cabinet have come from Munich.

BERLIN PLANS TO CURTAIL PRIVILEGES OF NEW FOES

By Associated Press.

Amsterdam, via London, April 29.—Berlin newspapers on Saturday published a police notice stating that citizens of the United States, Cuba and Panama hereafter will be subjected to the ordinances governing enemy aliens.

Residents of the metropolitan police district will not be allowed to leave the district without a permit even temporarily. They must report to the police once daily and are not to leave their residences between 10 o'clock in the evening and 6 o'clock in the morning.

SEES WORLD FEDERATION.

By Associated Press.

Philadelphia, April 28.—The "grand alliance" between the United States and the democracies of Europe against autocratic aggression as practiced by Germany gives rise to the hope that the war will lead to a federation of the world, in the opinion of Walter Lippmann of New York, associate editor of the "New Republic," expressed today in an address on "America's Relations to the World Conflict," before the American Academy of Political and Social Science.

"I know it sounds a little old-fashioned to use that phrase, the federation of the world," said Mr. Lippmann, "because we have used it so long in empty rhetoric. But no other idea is big enough to describe the alliance. It is no longer an offensive-defensive military agreement among diplomats. It is growing into a union of peoples determined to end forever that intriguing, adventurous nationalism which has torn the world for three centuries."

"The war is dissolving into a stupendous revolution. A few months ago we still argued about the Bagdad corridor, strategic frontiers, colonies. These were the stakes of the diplomats' war. The whole perspective is changed today by the revolution in Russia and the intervention of America. The scale of values is transformed, for the democracies are unloosed."

"We are at war to defeat the German government, to destroy its prestige, to deny its conquests, and to throw it back at last into the arms of the German people, marked and discredited as the author of their miseries. It is for them to make the final settlement with it."

"We can win nothing from this war unless it culminates in a union of liberal peoples pledged to co-operate in the settlement of all outstanding questions, sworn to turn against the aggressor, determined to erect a larger and more modern system of international law upon a federation of the world. That is what we are fighting for at this moment, on the ocean, in the shipyard and in the factory; later, perhaps in France and Belgium, ultimately at the council of peace."

GERMAN MINISTER LEAVES CUBAN SHORES ON MAY 1

By Associated Press.

Havana, April 28.—Sub Secretary of State Patterson announced today that the German minister to Cuba, Dr. Von Verdy du Vernois, who has been given his passports by the Cuban government, will leave Cuba May 1. The minister with the entire personnel of the German legation will go to New York via Key West, arriving there May 3. He expects, it is said, to sail the following day from New York for a Scandinavian port.

GERMANS SHOW STUBBORN FIGHT TO BRITISH NOW

ARE EVIDENTLY SPURRED TO TOP SPEED UNDER LASH OF HINDENBURG.

By Associated Press.

British Headquarters in France, April 28.—There was more desperate fighting along the British front today and the Germans evidently spurred on by the declarations from Field Marshal Von Hindenburg that they must hold their present positions at all costs are making a resistance more stubborn than any heretofore encountered. At various points captured in the first forward rush by the British, the Germans have counter attacked with a reckless disregard for loss of life.

The battle still was in progress late today and it was possible near Oppy to see at one time no less than five grey waves of Germans blindly facing the British fire in an attempt to retake their lost positions. Heavy shells broke upon them in a great explosive torrent and where each shell burst great gaps were cut in the ranks of the oncoming men. Those who penetrated the British barrage from the larger caliber guns were met by field gun fire and mown down under continuous sprays of machine gun bullets.

Under this galling fire the attack utterly broke down. In some places there was ferocious hand to hand fighting. The British got in well with the bayonet but there was one bit of fighting in which even bayonets were forgotten and the men went at each other's throats and eyes. Many Germans went to their death from blows from rifle butts.

At times the fighting was wholly obscured by great clouds of dust, the muddy battlefields of ten days ago having entirely disappeared. The dust raised by the barrage fire resembled an approaching storm. Shrapnel bullets were pelting the dry earth like so many leaden drops of rain and great mountains of dust seemed to spring from the earth everywhere.

The attack began with the coming of dawn. It extended in an easterly direction from Vimy ridge at its northern hinge and ran southward to the Scarpe. Progress was made everywhere and the so-called Oppy-Mercur court line which protects the Procuort switch to the Hindenburg line was pierced again.

The Canadians who had been more or less resting since they swept the Germans off both slopes of the Vimy ridge on Easter Monday, made a brilliant assault against Arleux En Gohelle and captured that village and held it against all counter attacks. The British also crossed the German lines just west of Oppy and there has been fierce fighting about that village all day.

When the correspondent left the fighting, about five hundred prisoners had been sent to the rear with possibly more to come. The fighting, however, was not of a nature which would result in a great haul of prisoners. Almost everywhere it was a fight to the death.

STEAMSHIP EARNINGS.

Christiania, March 28.—On a capital of 10,000,000 crowns, the Nordenfjeld Steamship company of Trondhjem earned 7,670,000 crowns in 1916. This can be added 1,600,000 crowns received for a new emission of stock, and 1,560,000 crowns insurance for three torpedoed vessels. A dividend of 40 per cent to old stockholders and 20 per cent to the new ones has been declared. The company's fleet has a tonnage of 77,000.

TWO GOOD REMEDIES

WORKING TOGETHER, PRODUCE
MARVELOUS RESULTS.

For instance, Hood's Sarsaparilla, the standard blood purifier, is recommended for conditions that are scrofulous or dependent on impure blood. Peptonin Pills, the new iron tonic, are especially recommended for conditions that are radically or characteristically anemic and nervous.

Many persons suffer from a combination of these conditions. They are afflicted with swellings of the glands, buncles in the neck, cutaneous eruptions and sores on different parts of the body, limbs and face, and are besides pale and nervous.

If these patients take both Hood's Sarsaparilla (before meals) and Peptonin Pills (after meals) they are reasonably sure to derive fourfold benefit. These two great medicines supplement each other, and the use of both, even in cases where only one may appear to be indicated, is of great advantage. Get them from your druggist.

BERLIN SAYS BRITISH FAIL TO BREAK THROUGH LINES

By Associated Press.

Berlin, April 28.—"On the battlefield of Arras," says the official communication from headquarters, "the British today for the third time failed completely in their attempt to break through the German lines. The attacks which began at daybreak with strong masses on a thirty kilometer front on both banks of the Scarpe all failed under our fire and in counter attacks the enemy again suffered a heavy defeat. His losses were very great."

"On the Aisne and in Champagne there was an artillery duel of varying intensity."

LORRAINE NOT GERMAN.

Paris, April 28.—"I lived through forty-three years of unflinching and uninterrupted protest against German domination in Lorraine, and I can tell you that Lorraine does not want to be German," said Canon Collin of Metz to the Associated Press.

Canon Collin was one of the most notable residents of the annexed province of Lorraine; his name was third on the German imperial list of suspects to be shot when war broke out. The French counter-espionage informed him of the fact and he escaped into Luxembourg before the war began.

"They did me too much honor in placing me so high on the list," the Canon added, "for my sentiments were no more anti-German than those of the whole people of Lorraine."

"The policy of the population of both provinces for forty-three years may be summed up in the word 'protest' in three degrees; first, official protest against German occupation and in favor of remaining French; second, protest against the interference of Germans in our local affairs; third, demand for the autonomy of Alsace and Lorraine; although there were different degrees and different stages, there was never any cessation or diminution of our resistance."

"After fifteen years of this official protestation began the regime of dictatorship and passports, with the object of annihilating that resistance, but it was continued through the press and at the polls at every election. Protest survived the dictatorship, after which it continued in the form of what might be called 'particularism' or the idea of Lorraine for the natives of Lorraine."

"The Germans had so little confidence in the population that they imposed their own officials upon us. German-born peoples flocked into Lorraine and Alsace until they numbered nearly 400,000 in both provinces. It was then we demanded that the Germans get out and leave the place to the natives of Alsace and Lorraine."

"Our first hope, in spite of all, was to return to France, though at times we had the painful sentiment that France was forgetting us. We organized the 'Souvenir Francais' throughout Lorraine and it did wonders to revive French sentiment and reawaken French patriotism in Lorraine. The Germans broke up the Souvenir Francais, then we organized the 'Souvenir Lorrain,' which was the same thing under a new name."

"A third of the population of Lorraine knows not a word of German. About 100,000 know both French and German imperfectly, while on the German frontier a German patois is spoken."

"The Alsations have been well called 'The Gascons of the North,' because of their ready wit. The people of Lorraine are colder and more reserved—perhaps more patient and persistent."

"The Alsations as soon as they recovered from the first stupor of the German invasion poked fun at the immigrants. The people of Lorraine threw themselves up in haughty disdain. They opposed the force of inertia—passive resistance to the aggressions of the invader and the German in Lorraine has never ceased to be regarded as an invader."

"There were more carpet-baggers in Lorraine than in Alsace. While every facility was given to them to enrich themselves at the expense of the country, the natives were officially treated as citizens of the second class."

"We were considered good enough to be street cleaners and railroad conductor, but that was the limit. There was opposition to everything that smelt of Germany."

"The attitude of the Germans toward the population of Lorraine during the war is striking proof that they do not believe what they say of the loyalty of Lorraine to Germany. Arrests were made by hundreds, of priests and notable citizens. A great number of women attached to the German police were brought to Metz from Berlin and distributed among the population to surprise conversations, provoke indiscretions and give pretext for arrest."

"I am glad to observe," said Canon Collin in conclusion, "that America has realized that the menace of German hegemony was aimed indirectly at her."

FOOD CONTROL BILLS DELAY BEFORE CONGRESS

By Associated Press.

Washington, April 28.—The administration's food control bills were not completed in time for introduction today in the house and will be offered Monday. Chairman Lever of the agriculture committee said today they would incorporate all of Secretary Houston's suggestions for government supervision of production and distribution and would empower some government agency to fix maximum and minimum prices in an emergency.

LONDON "OFFICIAL" SAYS TROOPS GAIN WIDE FRONT

By Associated Press.

London, April 28.—The British troops have captured Arleux-Gohelle and German positions on a front of more than two miles north and south of that village, says the official report from British headquarters in France tonight.

STOP CALOMEL! TAKE DODSON'S LIVER TONE

New Discovery! Takes Place of Dangerous Calomel—It Puts Your Liver To Work Without Making You Sick—Eat Anything—It Can Not Salivate—Don't Lose a Day's Work!

I discovered a vegetable compound that does the work of dangerous, sickening calomel and I want every reader of this paper to try a bottle and if it doesn't straighten you up better and quicker than salivating calomel just go back to the store and get your money.

I guarantee that one spoonful of Dodson's Liver Tone will put your sluggish liver to work and clean your thirty feet of bowels of the sour bile and constipation poison which is clogging your system and making you feel miserable.

I guarantee that one spoonful of this harmless liquid liver medicine will relieve the headache, biliousness, coated tongue, ague, malaria, sour stomach or any other distress caused by a torpid liver as quickly as a dose of vile, nauseating calomel, besides it will not make you sick or keep you from a day's work. I want to see a bottle of this wonderful liver medicine in every home here.

Calomel is poison—it's mercury—it attacks the bones, often causing rheumatism. Calomel is dangerous. It sickens—while my Dodson's Liver Tone is safe, pleasant and harmless. Eat anything afterwards, because it can not salivate. Give it to the children because it doesn't upset the stomach or shock the liver. Take a spoonful tonight and wake up feeling fine and ready for a full day's work.

Get a bottle! Try it! If it doesn't do exactly what I say, tell your dealer to hand your money back. Every druggist and store keeper here knows me and knows of my wonderful discovery of a vegetable medicine that takes the place of dangerous calomel.

FARM AND ARM TEDDY'S BATTLE CRY AT CHICAGO

COLONEL IN TWO STIRRING
SPEECHES IN WINDY CITY URGING PREPAREDNESS.

By Associated Press.
Chicago, April 28.—"Farm and arm." With this battle cry, Theodore Roosevelt entered Chicago and in two stirring speeches urged that every energy of the entire nation be directed toward making the potential might of the United States felt in the war against Germany. He demanded that not an hour be lost in dispatching troops to the trenches.

His first speech was made at a luncheon at noon; his second at a mass meeting in the amphitheatre at the stockyards.

He advocated universal training as a permanent policy; he advocated conscription, but he pleaded that he should be allowed to recruit a division of volunteers for immediate service with the allies.

He was roundly applauded when he urged that during the war the use of grain for the manufacture of alcoholic beverages be prohibited.

Wants Army Abroad.
"I want to get Americans into the trenches of France at the earliest possible moment to show our allies that we are as ready as they to shed our blood for the cause of democracy," he said.

He said he wished, however, to find service for those efficient men who would be left on the side lines under military policies so far under discussion—for men who could not get conscripted.

At the luncheon, Harry Pratt Judson, president of the University of Chicago, introduced a resolution to be forwarded to President Wilson requesting that the colonel be authorized to raise a division and lead it into France.

Anything to Go.
Colonel Roosevelt asked if he might amend it.

"Make it read that we want the division sent under any competent officers and please to let Roosevelt go along."

"I'd go as a second lieutenant," said Colonel Roosevelt. "To get the division there is the thing."

OFFERS OUTPUT OF CANADA MILLS FOR PAPER SHORTAGE

By Associated Press.
Washington, April 28.—Lord Northcliffe, the noted British publisher has offered the output of his print paper mills in Northeastern Canada to American newspaper publishers to relieve the print paper situation. The output of the mills is 60,000 tons a year and a sufficient factor to probably break the present high price market.

CUBA ASKED NO LOAN, SAYS MENOCAL SECRETARY

By Associated Press.
Havana, April 28.—Rafael Menocal, secretary to President Menocal, today officially denied to the Associated Press correspondent from Washington that Cuba had asked for a loan from the United States. Cuba, he said, has no intention of asking for a loan, but he declared, "will face her war problem on her own resources."

LONDON PAPERS HIGHER.

By Associated Press.
London, April 28.—Nearly all the newspapers in London and many in other cities of England have, owing to the shortage of paper, increased their price. A total of 234 newspapers and other periodical publications, of which 37 are dailies, have either increased their price or are about to do so.

Essentials of a Complete Tonic

Every tonic offered the public should do more than stimulate the organs. It should do these three things:
1. Gently remove all the waste matter of the system by energizing the excretory organs—the liver, the kidneys and the bowels.
2. Dispel all inward congestion, which, neglected, will lead to catarrh.
3. Regulate the digestion, and thus permit the system to make proper use of strength-building food.
Such a tonic is found in the time-tested
PERUNA

Its principal ingredients, which are printed on every bottle, are the most reliable for these very purposes. Its actual value has been proved in thousands of cases during the forty-five years it has been used. Why experiment?

A LITTLE STORE THAT GIVES A BIG SERVICE

Over at 726 Austin street there is a little store that gives a big service. It is a paint store and to the casual passerby it looks a good deal like other up-to-date paint stores. Its show windows are rather more attractive than the average, and the number of customers indicated a brisk business, promptly and courteously dispatched. But it is not until you enter that you realize the big difference between this and other paint stores. It is the difference between paint sales and paint service. Any paint store can sell you paint. But there are mighty few paint stores that can give you the real paint service. This store can and does.

As a matter of fact, this little paint store is run by the world's biggest manufacturer of paints and varnishes—The Sherwin-Williams Company. That is why a single store can give such a big service. Back of its shelves and counters, its alert and courteous salesmen and its complete stock of paints and varnishes there stretches out the vast chain of factories, refineries, smelters, mines, dye plants, laboratories and warehouses, all efficiently organized and directed to one end—to give you exactly the right paint, varnish, stain or finish for the particular surface you want to cover or protect.

This sounds like a large order for a little store, but let us see how it works out in practice. Suppose you have a house or apartment to redecorate. You do not pretend to be a decorative expert, and probably you feel rather helpless when you talk to the painter who is going to do the work. Perhaps you know in a general way the effect you want to get, but you are not sure about the right paints or varnishes to give that effect.

That's the time to go to the Sherwin-Williams paint store. You will get prompt and courteous attention whether your needs are big or little. If you desire they will take down full details of your requirements and within a few days, the Sherwin-Williams Decorative Department will send you, without charge and without the slightest obligation on your part, a complete color scheme (including specifications of the proper paints and varnishes for carrying it out) and suggestions on suitable materials and colors for rugs, furniture and curtains.

These suggestions are made with equal care, whether they are for a big room or an entire building. The Sherwin-Williams company maintains a staff of decorative experts for this particular service. Their suggestions and color schemes have been carried out in many churches, schools, theatres and business buildings, and the service has won the approval of architects, master painters, builders and owners. Just as there is a right Sherwin-Williams product for every surface, so there is a harmonious, tasteful and appropriate treatment for each room and each exterior and it is the aim of the Sherwin-Williams Company to provide both.

It is entirely safe to say that there is a right Sherwin-Williams paint, varnish or finish for every kind of surface, and at this little store you will get competent advice on any finishing job you may have in mind. It makes no difference whether you want to paint a yacht or a house, an automobile or a church, a bathtub or a buggy, a factory or a public building—the Sherwin-Williams experts know the right finish to use, and this store on Austin street is the place where they put their expert knowledge at the disposal of the people of Waco and vicinity.

You will find color charts and samples of a wide variety of finishes all of which can be supplied promptly from the complete stock carried by the store. It is well worth a visit, even if you have no particular work in mind at the present time. It is good to know that there is always so conveniently available such a complete paint service freely placed at your disposal.

"It is my opinion there will be many training camps with drafted men numbering 5,000,000 before war ends."

LUMBERMEN SHOW DECREASE.

HOPE OF SAVING ENTOMBED MEN IS NOW GIVEN UP

VIRTUALLY ALL CHANCE OF SAVING 120 MINERS IS GONE
AT HASTINGS MINES.

By Associated Press.
Hastings, Colo., April 28.—Virtually all hope of saving any of the 120 men entombed in the Hastings mines of the Victor-American Fuel company here yesterday morning by an explosion, was abandoned tonight. James Dalrymple, state coal mine inspector, who came from the mine today, gave it as his opinion that there was no one left alive in the mine. Rescue men who have been in the mine expressed themselves similarly.

G. F. Bartlett, president of the company, however, declared the work of rescue will go on until there is no hope that any of the entombed men are alive. Early tonight thirteen bodies had been taken from the mine.

Mr. Dalrymple, who penetrated the workings to within 200 feet of the face of the mine, said the rescue crews knew where there were six or eight other bodies which they could not reach until the gas cleared away.

"In my opinion, there was no fire in the mine," Mr. Dalrymple said. As to the cause of the disaster, he said:

"We cannot tell until we reach the initial point of the explosion. We are working the north side of the air course and coming back on the south, searching every entry in which men were working."

The reports that the mine was afire and that there had been no explosion, now reversed, are explained by mine officials as due to the fact that no shock as from an explosion was felt and that considerable smoke and gas now assumed to be from the explosion, poured from the mine mouth for some time.

The merely curious have been prevented from approaching the impromptu morgue in the machine shop. At the mouth of the airshaft a crowd waits for news from under ground.

A few women braved the snowstorm of the late afternoon and early evening. None of them can tell whether the bodies brought out are those of dear ones, but many weep and all cry out whenever a stretcher with its burden is borne up the slope.

NEITHER HOUSE AT AUSTIN WAS IN SESSION SATURDAY

By Associated Press.
Austin, April 28.—Neither branch of the legislature was in session today, an adjournment having been taken by the house last evening until 2 o'clock Monday afternoon and by the senate until Monday morning at 10 o'clock.

In the senate, the finance committee has practically completed the consideration of three of the money bills, the eleemosynary, educational and judiciary. There has been cut out nearly $2,500,000 in appropriations from these three measures. The old red carpet which had done service on the senate floor for the past thirty-three years, was torn up and a bright new carpet is being placed on the floor.

ONE of the first places where the people of the United States are going to feel the effect of this nation's entry into the war is in increased food costs.

This is inevitable. No matter who you are or where you live, you are going to feel it—unless you do something about it right away. What can you do, and how shall you do it? Every man and woman who has room in his yard or who can get the use of a vacant lot near his home to start a garden should think and act right now.

You to whom this idea is new will be surprised to know that the yield from even a small plot of ground will produce enough vegetables to feed a family of five all summer. Figure this out in dollars and cents and you will be surprised at the amount of money a small garden will save you in a single season. Invest the cost of necessary seeds and the small amount of labor required and you will be delighted at the additional goodness you will enjoy in fresh garden truck picked right out of your own patch. Try this plan, beginning now—this month is planting time, and you will find that you will be distinctly benefited physically, yes, and mentally, too—by the wholesome outdoor work of pottering around in the ground among growing things.

dener with the help and instruction to be found in the Britannica can multiply his chances of success and the yield from his patch many, many times.

Think of this matter of food supply seriously. It will become very serious if the war runs on.

Every farmer of a dozen acres or many hundreds of acres, growing such staples as wheat, barley, corn, rye, hay, cotton, etc., will be called upon to increase the yield and reliability of his crops. The farmers of big farms will find in the Britannica articles full of information and help to them, for the agricultural articles and articles on correlated subjects are written by agricultural experts of world-renown.

The Britannica is the highest authority in the world for information on all farming subjects, including live stock and the animal industry.

If you have room for poultry, the Britannica articles on Poultry and Poultry Farming will help you to make this a successful economic side line.

Bee keeping and the honey industry is a method of food production that is interesting and practically without expense. People who live in apartment houses in the cities, miles from the country, have kept bees on their roofs successfully and profitably. The Britannica articles on the Bee (Vol. 3, p. 625) and on Honey (Vol. 13, p. 776) are complete and instructive.

Now or Never is your only chance to own a set of the Handy Volume Britannica printed on genuine India paper.

This is only one phase of the value to you of The Encyclopaedia Britannica. It covers every subject of human knowledge with equal thoroughness and in an equally practical way. It covers every manufacturing subject in every line of trade. It covers every subject of interest to the shop worker, the salesman, the professional man or woman, the student and scholar.

The war's effect will increase the pressure on the pocketbook of every home in America. With the Britannica as a practical help you can materially ease this pressure.

But to own the Britannica—to have this valuable work immediately available, you simply must decide about buying right away. The remaining number of sets of the "Handy Volume" Issue of the Britannica, printed on genuine India paper, are very few. Within two, or at the most three, weeks the last set will be sold.

To help you decide and order while there is a single set left, arrangements have been made with the merchant in your city, whose name and address is printed below, of the various bindings, also sample volumes of the superb Cambridge issue (the large type, large page, more expensive form). Go today to this store—examine the complete set, see the bindings, learn the prices, learn the plan of buying on conveniently small monthly payments, prove to yourself once and finally whether or not the Britannica will be useful and helpful. Then, if you decide to buy, leave your order right there in the store. IF YOU DO THIS TODAY YOU WILL BE IN TIME FOR ONE OF THESE LAST SETS.

If you cannot go to this store or if you already know that the Britannica will prove a help and of practical use to you, sign and send us today the Reserve Order Form which is a part of this announcement. We are not going to have nearly enough sets to fill all the orders we will receive in the next few weeks. We could sell many thousand more sets if the papermakers could get the flax from Belgium, Germany or Ireland and the hemp from Russia—two raw materials necessary to make genuine India paper. Because these two products are unobtainable, the publishers cannot print any more sets of the "Handy Volume" Britannica on this wonderful paper.

NOW or NEVER

Remember—if you do not decide NOW you will NEVER be able to buy at all. Therefore—you must go to the store named below, see the books, decide and order—OR sign and mail the "Reserve" Order Form. There is no time to write for information—because the last set will be sold before you can get the printed descriptive matter, read it, make up your mind about buying and get your order in.

To be sure, you should act TODAY.

Those who cannot go to this store may use this "Reserve" Order Form, which will be legally binding upon us to reserve one set for you, just the same as if you ordered it in person.

BEGINNING OF END IN GERMANY SAYS BRITISHER

"MORALLY AND POLITICALLY
CENTRAL EMPIRE IS AL-READY DEFEATED."

By Associated Press.

London, April 28.—The beginning of the end for Germany next autumn and peace before winter is over, is the prediction of Lieut. Gen. Jan Christian Smuts, who commanded the victorious British expedition in German East Africa and who now is representing South Africa in the Imperial conference here. "Morally and politically, Germany already is defeated," he said the other day, "and all that remains is the final issue on the field of battle."

"The submarine? Well, I am firmly convinced that the submarine campaign is not going to settle this war. At the best, it is nothing more or less than a raid on our wide imperial lines of communication. The raids will be severe and will inconvenience us very seriously, but they will not lead to our defeat."

"No raid on lines of communication ever yet led to the defeat of any empire in the world. This summer I think we shall see the submarine effort on which Germany is relying fail and then, earlier than many of us think, we shall hear of peace."

"This nation is not inspired by vengeful feeling, nor by any desire to destroy the German nation. We are actuated by higher motives. I am sure the nation will make a wise settlement, not only in its own interests, but in the interests of Europe."

"What can I modestly say about South Africa? We started this war with an internal convulsion in our own country. Unlike other parts of the British empire, we first had to set our own house in order. This was done. We secured peace and quiet in South Africa, and today, except in a small and fever-ridden district, the German flag is not flying south of the Equator. Fifteen years ago a very large proportion of this population was locked in deadly conflict with the British empire."

"The fundamental issue in this struggle in which we are engaged is that the government of the world is not military, and that it cannot be taken over by a military machine, but only on principles of equity, justice, fairness and equality."

"You see the effects of this already. Germany started enormously strong and preponderant in military strength over the world. What have we seen? Simply because we have a just cause and simply because she has been trying to hack her way through in a military sense, one country after another has dropped away from her. Two of her own treaty nations have dropped her, and today, all over the world, you find the nations of the world coming together against her."

"I do not hide from myself that the position is a grave one, that the central empires are an enormously strong military combination, and when I speak of ultimate victory I do not hide from myself that we have hard work in front of us and that there are difficult times ahead. There is no doubt, however, after the long time the war has lasted—almost three years—and the exhaustion which is overtaking Central Europe, that they cannot continue much longer, and that by this autumn they will have made their maximum military effort. They are now flouting the opinion of the world in a way they have never done before, and in a way which suggests that they must try hard at any cost to achieve some result this summer."

REALITY OF WAR TO BE BROUGHT TO CITIZEN ARMY

EVERY LESSON OF EUROPEAN
BATTLEFIELDS TO BE TAUGHT
U. S. EMBRYONIC SOLDIER.

By Associated Press.

Washington, April 28.—Soldiering will take on an aspect entirely new to American military science when training of the forces to be assembled under the draft bill begins at the sixteen training cantonments. Careful plans laid by war department officials provide for the application immediately of every lesson learned from European battlefields and much of the work to be done will be new even to men recently in army instruction camps.

The army war college has prepared new training manuals based on the latest information from the trenches of the fighting fronts, gathered from many sources. Supplemental regulations will cover even more detailed information brought by the British and French officers here as members of the war missions.

Follow Canadian Plan. The American training system probably will follow to some extent that used in Canada, where instructors have made every effort to reproduce as closely as possible conditions at the front. Sections of trenches have been built at the Canadian camps exactly duplicating important parts of the lines in France held by Canadian troops. Training in extending these works and running saps or erecting entanglements has gone on to the accompaniment of shell fire so as to harden the nerves of the troops as well as their muscles.

To carry out this scheme, the Canadians have placed batteries opposite the trenches and keep up a fire at certain designated points. The infantry men under training have done their work night and day with shrapnel bursting close to them. The officers, of course, know the posts to be pounded by the guns and keep the men out of danger.

In Bombing Practice. Another work that will be new to American troops will be bombing practice. Every company will have its section of grenadiers to clear the way into a disputed trench. It requires practice to perfect men in this revived art of war and in repelling bombing parties.

Machine gun work will be revolutionized. In Great Britain a separate machine gun corps has been created to turn out complete machine gun companies which handle the heavy, water-cooled Vickers-Maxim guns on defensive lines. In each company are skilled mechanics to make repairs, highly trained gunners, packers and ammunition handlers. Among the line troops also are scattered great numbers of light machine rifles for offense, one man carrying the gun and several following him.

further vigorous efforts to stimulate voluntary recruiting in the regular army and national guard. President Wilson may issue a proclamation calling for 600,000 or more volunteers for these branches of the service. Mr. Baker made it plain that the war department does not plan to apply the draft to fill up the regular and guard forces until the supply of volunteers have been exhausted.

How You'll Be Called.

Within a month after enactment of the bill the secretary expects to set the registration date for the conscription forces. A proclamation will be issued notifying all men affected to appear at the registration places. The election machinery of each community will be used to facilitate registration and the police forces will be employed to bring in those who fail to appear voluntarily.

The department issued a statement today to correct the impression that the army Springfield rifle is to be abandoned for the British Enfield. Tentative contracts have been let, however, for enough modified Enfields to arm the second million men. The British type will be re-chambered to use American ammunition and with the change they will be more powerful guns than those used by the British.

The department announced also that it had ordered two types of heavy field howitzers of foreign design. The largest American gun of this kind now in use is the six-inch weapon and both of the new guns are of larger size. The number ordered was not disclosed.

GIVES AID IN BELGIUM. By Associated Press. The Hague, via London, April 29.—The Rev. John B. Deville of Chicago has arrived here after a stay of several months in Belgium, where he succeeded in distributing about 50,000 francs sent by relatives in America to Notwithstanding the outbreak of war between Germany and the United States, he said, the former facilities and courteous treatment continue to be extended to him because of the philanthropic nature of his work.

Dr. Zimmerman, the German foreign minister, has given special permission for some 300 Belgian women and children to leave Belgium for America in care of Father Deville.

WOMEN SMOKERS INCREASE.

By Associated Press.

London, April 28.—Attention has been directed to the growth of the smoking habit among women by the report of the official physician of a large munitions factory that he has found fourteen young women employees suffering from "smoker's heart." Some of them are quite young girls. "All of them," he says, "are women to be regarded naturally as potential mothers. There never was a time when babies were of such vital importance as today yet at the very time we want strong and sturdy babies, children are likely to come into this world in a weak, weedy and rickety condition, paying the price for their mothers' devotion to tobacco."

"Smoking after lunch is now permitted among the women workers in several of the most conservative government offices in London, and in other departments where official permission is lacking, systematic smoking among the women employees is winked at. In the offices of private firms and factories of all kinds, the same condition exists."

GET THE FEDERAL AND STATE MONEY POSSIBLE FOR McLENNAN COUNTY GOOD ROADS BUDGET.

THE federal aid monies which have been appropriated for the improving of road conditions all over the United States are subject to certain rigid rules, which must be observed before any of it can be used in improving road conditions of this or any other county.

A Texas highway commission is being formed, which will handle the applications from all counties and districts for the improvement of the roads. McLennan county should have her part.

Anticipating that, as soon as the Texas highway commission is organized, it will be urged by various counties and districts, for the apportionment of state and federal aid to be used in the improvement of local highways, it seems to be advisable to make clear just how federal aid monies will be allotted for highway improvement.

THE United States cannot take the initiative in the matter of selecting roads to be improved by the use of federal aid. It is required by law that the state highway commission shall recommend to the department of agriculture the roads on which federal aid monies are desired, and it then rests with the office of public roads and rural engineering, acting as the agent of the secretary of agriculture, to make necessary inspections to see whether roads recommended are eligible for government aid.

Federal aid funds are to be used ONLY for the improvement of roads over which the United States mails now or may hereafter be carried. This embraces roads over which rural free delivery mail is carried, star routes or routes which, upon the improvement of the road, are to be used as mail routes.

There seems to be a widespread misconception in parts of Texas regarding the so-called "national highways." In that many people believe that, because a road has been designated as a national highway by the National Highways association, it necessarily will receive government aid. As a matter of fact, miles of these so-called "national highways" are through mountainous or desert sections of the country, and in all probability never will become eligible for federal aid. Furthermore, the very essence of the federal aid act is the co-operation which is required between the United States government, the state highway commission, and in many cases, where part of the funds are provided by counties and districts, with the necessary local officials.

The McLennan county commissioners and Waco commercial bodies should see that every possible dollar of state and federal aid is added to the amounts that are available thru local taxation.

Health and Patriotism

BY H. ADDINGTON BRUCE

I would remind you:

Preparedness for national defense and for the maintenance of national integrity means much more than the development of a strong navy and the recruiting and training of an efficient army.

It means financial preparedness, industrial preparedness, agricultural preparedness, medical preparedness. It means organized effort to strengthen the nation in every respect.

Therefore it also means INDIVIDUAL effort to make one's self fit and to keep one's self fit to share in the patriotic work of serving the nation.

And this applies to every man and woman in the nation. It applies to YOU.

Whatever your age, you can serve your country in some way. There is SOMETHING you can find to do that will be of genuine value to the country in this time of stress and conflict. But that something you cannot do to the best of your ability unless you are in good physical and mental trim. AS A PATRIOTIC CITIZEN IT IS YOUR DUTY TO TAKE STOCK OF YOUR HEALTH AND OF YOUR HABITS OF LIVING.

If you have any vicious habits, which are necessarily weakening to you mentally and physically, you owe it to your country to make an earnest effort to rid yourself of these habits. If you are careless in matters of personal hygiene, you owe it to your country to become careful.

Do you overeat, day in and day out? Do you ignore the requirements for regular exercise in the open air?

Are you indifferent as to keeping your body clean? In home and working place, are you negligent as regards ventilation, heating, and the like?

Do you, perhaps for the sake of amusing yourself in vicious or unhealthy ways, sit up late night after night, and thus deprive yourself of needed sleep?

Do you waste your energy in fussing over trifles?

Do you make the mistake of allowing worrying thoughts to take possession of you?

Questions like these you should seriously ask yourself today. They touch on matters of importance, not to you alone, but to your country also.

Nay, it will not be amiss if, even though you believe yourself to be in the best of health, to allow dentist and doctor to give you a thorough examination.

Tooth decay is an unsuspected source of many physical ailments. And your physician may find in your weaknesses which, if neglected, will develop into more or less serious disease. In any event he will be able to give you helpful ideas as to diet, exercise, and personal hygiene in general.

"It may well be claimed," once declared former President Taft, "that the care of individual and family health is the first and most patriotic duty of a citizen."

Let the truth of this sink deep into your mind. And act accordingly.

NEW-YORK-DAY-BY-DAY.

O-O-MEINTYRE.

New York, April 24.—The call has sobered Broadway. Many suave, pomaded young men, joyous figures in the dancin' shoes and skates and cutting out the cocktails and wily Scotch. The heavy dinner, the reeking cabaret and the little blonde athirst for glittering gems—are being forgotten.

The frothy set of Broadway realizes that war is here and they are getting fit. Those who have slipped from honest thinking into laissez faire are hardening their flabby muscles by exercise. The night life has shown the blighting effect of war. There are very few all-night parties. Even Jack has refused to serve drinks after 3 a. m.

At Murray's Pat Kyne, the manager, called all the parlor snakes or lounge lizards or whatever name they go by into his private office. "Boys," he said, "we do not need you around here any more. Your country needs you and you've got to go. I want you to show the world that even if you have been leading a care-free life you are men."

Two enlisted that day. There are many other evidences that New York is preparing for the grim struggle. The Biltmore, Waldorf, Majestic and Ritz have eliminated the dishes that were usually hidden under a mass of French verbiage and are offering only the simple, palatable menus. In this way they empty their ice boxes of much food that usually goes to waste.

Barney Bernard told his latest Hebrew story to a group of friends in the tap room of the Claridge the other afternoon.

At night school the teacher asked a Jewish young man, not very long in this country, to use the word "theft" in a sentence. The young man thought a moment and replied:

"Theft was a very good president."

S. S. Pratt, who is an oil expert from Kentucky, was in town the other day and told of Hick Skidmore, a negro, who was in a penitentiary down South under sentence of death.

Somebody told him he ought to write the governor and ask for clemency, so Hick did. This is what he wrote:

"Deah Mistah Govenah: Dey tells me dey's gwine ter hang me next Friday and heah it is Wednesday. Your friend, HICK SKIDMORE."

A lot of New Yorkers believe that peace will be declared by July 1 and that it will go down in history as Peace Day. And there are odds of 10 to 1 on the proposition. One Broadwayite is taking the "small end," willing to lose if the war ends. In fact, he is hoping that it ends. In France a company has been organized to take American tourists over the war country. Advertising matter is already being received here. It is expected that there will be a great rush, but several steamship men say that the rush will not come until 1918 on account of the great number of mines that are floating about uncharted in the ocean.

The passing on of "Diamond Jim" Brady revealed that there were many New Yorkers who believed that "Diamond Jim" was a pleasure loving rich man's son. As a matter of fact, from 8 a. m. until 3:30 p. m. he was considered The Greatest Salesman in the World. He forced his way from a messenger boy to a multimillionaire. He started wearing huge diamonds for just the effect they had—publicity. Finally rare jewels became his hobby. He loved the theatre because it amused him. Although a devout patron of the gayest street in all the world, he never smoked or took a drink in his life. No one ever visited his home—no matter how often—without leaving with some gift.

The prize geese in the fowl preserves at the south lake in Central Park may now rest in peace. The bones of their simple lives was removed with one volley by Animal Keeper Bill Snyder the other morning. Snyder espied the bane about to do some early morning rough work.

For weeks motorists have reported seeing a red fox dashing nimbly about within the park. There was no fox missing from the menagerie and for a time it was supposed the eyesight of the motorist was all wrong. But a few days later it was discovered that a prize goose of the flock was featherless and dead.

And then Snyder stationed himself about the roost and the red fox, a total stranger, came sneaking along. There were two shots and one gurgled.

The Broadway blade who, Wilson Mizner says, selects his clothes to match his dandruff, has nothing on the Wall street messenger "boy" who dyes his gray hair to look younger and it emerged from the dying process as blue as his uniform. And incidentally the gray-haired messenger "boys" of this town are the most pathetic figures of metropolitan life and the least complaining.

One of the latest dances on the White Way is the "Bygones." It is a rag time affair and I saw Kaam, the dancer, execute it to the tune of "Honolulu, America loves you" the other evening. Of course nobody can pronounce the name of the dance, and that reminds me of Roy Moulton's quip when it was announced that Joe Urban was to produce the new play, "Njura." Said Moulton: "He may produce it but I'll bet a pair of ball bearing suit pants he can't pronounce it." Kaam by the way, has a Russian wolf hound named Sweet Evening Breeze.

She was a fluffy young thing—her face shining with the joy of living. I saw her trip out of the entrance of the Majestic. There was a new elasticity to her body, a fresh fire flame to her winter worn mind. Tarnished fears and frayed foreboding seemed never to have existed for her.

A grouchy old man, with a sour face, was walking along the street. He seemed bent with care and soured by pessimistic thoughts. He looked at her, too. Then he looked at me and suggestion of a smile came to his lips. "Gad! Young man," he exclaimed, "it is spring." The fluffy young thing typified the changing season and this worn old man had felt the magic touch. And as I walked along it occurred to me that this is no usual spring that has come to us ready to apparel half the globe in waxing verdure and blessed sunshine. The stirring events of the past few weeks are thrilling men with the consciousness that God is in His heaven and almighty come right with this stricken world.

Seen around the town: A chorus girl coconut grove arguing against cigarettes for women while imbibing a cocktail. A man in a silk hat and evening clothes going into a ten-cent movie show. A dog with tortoise rimmed glasses on Lexington avenue. A fat woman with a lean wolf hound followed by a crowd of grinning urchins. A demure, retiring little woman reading Jim Jam Jems in a street car and a rough, uncouth man opposite reading Epictetus.

It was at a Methodist conference. A minister from Chester, N. Y., was asked to address the gathering. When he arose his old friends scarcely knew him. Instead of the modest black sack coat he wore a silk lappelled Prince Albert coat and in his satin puff cravat a brilliant stone sparkled. He seemed to be younger than he had appeared in years and when upon completing his talk he put on a modish spring overcoat with pleats and picked up a walking stick with a silver handle his old friends made no secret of their interest and amazement.

"Doctor," said one of them, "you strike me as the best dressed minister at the conference. I've known you for years and I declare you never in your life looked so prosperous, ornate and contented. What's happened?" "Well," said the minister, "I'll admit everything. I've got a big farm up at Chester and have planted almost everything on it from time to time. Last year I was undecided what to go in for, and finally, by the merest luck, I planted onions. Well, look at me."

No Source of Supply.
"Little girl, why aren't you provided with an umbrella?"
"Because father hasn't been to church this year."—Puck.

Laugh With Us

A five-year-old boy went with his mother to make a call. The lady of the house, who was fond of children, told him she meant to ask his mother to let her have him.

"Don't you think your mother would let me buy you?" she asked.

"No, ma'am," answered the little fellow; "you haven't got enough money."

"How much would it take?" she continued.

"Five hundred dollars," said the boy promptly, as if that would settle the matter once for all.

"Oh, well, then," said the lady, "I think I can manage it. If I can will you come and stay with me?"

"O, ma'am," he said, with decision. "Mamma wouldn't sell me, anyhow. There are five of us, and mamma would not like to break the set."

The young bride had clearly formed ideas on industrial questions.

"I will give you something to eat," she informed the tramp, "if you will get that axe—"

"Oh, I shan't need that," the tramp interrupted in a reassuring tone. "My teeth are quite all right."

The new maid would not rise early enough. Gentle reproof seemed vain and finally the master and mistress tried the inferential method of shame and let the damsel sleep whilst they prepared the breakfast for themselves.

"We'll shame her to it," said the master.

Not a word was said until 9 o'clock the same evening, when the girl tapped at the door of the sitting room.

"Is there anything else I can do, mum?" she respectfully inquired.

There was nothing and she turned to go to bed, but at the door remembered something.

"If you're down before me in the morning, mum," she observed, "you'll find the eggs in the icebox in the pantry."

The fair young creature was becoming very impatient and finally exclaimed: "Mercy! We have waited thirty minutes. We'll miss the opera waiting for that mother of mine."

"Hours," I should say," he replied, none too sweetly. "Ours!" she cried rapturously. "Oh, Will, this is so unexpected." And she fell upon his neck.

The following anecdote is carefully preserved by a family whose Scotch ancestors took a rise out of the great lexicographer.

Hostess — "Dr. Johnson, what do you think of our Scotch broth?"

Dr. Johnson — "Madam, in my opinion, it's only fit for pigs."

Hostess — "Then have some more."

"You wouldn't sell your vote, Erastus, would you?"

"No, sub," answered Erastus Pinkley. "But if a gemmen what's runnin' for office was to give me $2, common gratitude would make me vote foh him."

Springtime always brings with it joy and distress. The distress is in the form of catarrh, neuralgia, rheumatic pains, constipation, inactive kidneys and usually a feverish, sluggish lethargy that is hard to throw off.

Do you remember how grandmother fed you sulphur and molasses every spring to purify the blood? It was a good, old-fashioned, but nauseous remedy. Now you can take sulphur, cream of tartar and herbs in tablet form. A better remedy, easy and pleasant to take in Sulphur Tablets. Sold by all druggists. A laxative, blood purifier of unequalled merit for those who are constipated and suffering in any way from such pent-up poisons. Each package is guaranteed to give wonderfully satisfactory results. "FAHSADE" WORD SPELLS DEFEAT

OTHERWISE RESULTS COULD BE DIFFERENT IN DISTRICT INTERSCHOLASTIC MATCH.

Better learn how to spell "fahsade." That's not the way, so look it up in your spelling book, for if it had not been for that word results might have been different in the spelling contest of the Interscholastic League district held in Waco yesterday. The district comprises the counties of Bell, Coryell, Falls, Hamilton and McLennan, and Waco is counted as a county on its population basis.

The events were held at the high school with the following results: Tennis, Marlin, winning team; Billie Spivey and Tom Glass; debate, Lascan over Hico, winning team; Milton Davidson and Terry Dickens; girls' junior declamatory, Julia Mae Anderson of Reagan, first; Emiline Bryant of Belton, second; junior boys' declamatory, Paul Spencer, Temple, first; Richard Vaughn, Mart, second; spelling contest, J. C. White of Belton, first; Marquerite Wiatt of Lakeview, second; senior girls' declamatory, Lorene Hamilton, Waco, first; Laura Dangelesen of Temple, second; senior boys' declamatory, Lake Johnson, Waco, first; John Kostohryz of West, second.

Waco was represented in but three events, winning two first in these. Over forty-five young men and women took part. The winners will represent this district in the state events at Austin next Friday and Saturday.

The article under the caption, "How Ridiculous!" was in reply to an article in El Diari, another Havana daily, referring to Spain's attitude toward the European war.

COUCY CAPTURE BRILLIANT FEAT OF FRENCH ARMY

By Associated Press.
French Headquarters, April 28.—A French infantry captain, pressing forward with his men over the crest of the hills that rise above the valley of Ailette, a few days ago, saw rising nearly 200 feet from the valley on its steep acropolis the castle of Coucy with its great central tower 2040 feet high and 100 feet in diameter, and the smaller towers 114 feet high that crowned the angles of its walls. The magnificent castle represented some of the most vital chapters of French history.

The captain was the last Frenchman to see Coucy in its perfection. As he looked there came from the midst of the castle a blinding blaze of flame. The keep and the battlements flew asunder, and for the moment everything vanished under an impenetrable cloud of dust and smoke.

When, after many minutes, the cloud cleared away, keep and towers and battlements had disappeared as utterly as many-towered Camelot. All that remained of that fairy dream was a ragged piece of wall pierced by a window or two and piles of white, fresh broken stone that poured down the steep hillside like a landslide.

Coucy had been destroyed. Once before in its history its destruction had been ordered. Mazarin had sent forth word that it should be razed to the ground so utterly that men should plough on the ground where once it had been. But that order was never fully obeyed.

It was left for the Germans, with many tons of explosives, to destroy a wonderful and interesting building that had ceased to have any practical military value. From the military point of view they simply wasted this huge quantity of explosives.

Damage of Savages.

In all this district, says the British eyewitness, the damage done suggests the work of a band of mischievous savages. Throughout the country between Coucy and Noyon they have sought to annihilate every village by blowing each individual house to atoms. Peasant's cottage, walled farm house, rich man's chateau have all suffered the same fate. No house was so mean that it was not worth enough explosive to make it a pile of ruins. But no cloud lacks a silver lining. In the debris of the ruined houses, the Germans have left inexhaustible material to build up every shelter that the French troops need. For the mending of the roads the French now find to their hand all the rubble they need. The Germans object, no doubt, was to cause misery and privation among the peasants, but they only roused the slow, stubborn hatred of the man of the soil who will never forget or forgive.

Before the German retreat every French soldier was determined to drive the invader from the sacred soil of France. Now the men who have seen their devastated villages and fields are like that regiment described by Kipling who had seen its dead after they had been cut up by the Afghans. For them it is no longer enough that the enemy should be driven out of France.

The capture of Coucy deserves to rank among the most brilliant feats of arms of the retreat. After destroying the castle on the ground that it would have a military value to the French, the Germans proceeded to turn the ruins into a fortress which was in modern conditions certainly as formidable as the castle could have been if they had left it intact. They loop-holed the walls that remained, and placed machine guns behind them. They built platforms along them for the grenadiers and sharpshooters, and piles of grenades are still left to show that they had prepared for a desperate stand.

French Creep Forward.

The French troops worked their way down from the crest of the hills on the other side of the valley into the woods that lie below the castle. Then they were held up by a stretch of marsh land and the machine guns mounted on the castle walls. The Germans poured a storm of shrapnel and asphyxiating gas shells on the woods, but the French infantry, though it was impossible to dig trenches, owing to the water beneath the surface, held their ground until night fall and then began to press forward in small bodies. The Germans kept throwing flares which cast a ghastly light on everything around. All through the night the gaunt walls of the shattered castle were as visible as though it had been bright moonlight. But the French guns were not to be denied, and at last they reached the shelter of the houses where, on either side the road mounts to the castle and the village beside it. Then, suddenly the resistance ceased. All the Germans who could fled by the way they had appeared—a covered trench communicating with the vaults of the castle. The rest were killed or captured.

The present state of the castle resembles a mountain side after a great landslide has passed. Huge blocks of masonry and stones are piled one on the other, and only a few fragments of the outer walls many yards thick through they were, is all that is left of the super-structure.

HIGH WIND IN FRIDAY STORM HITS McLENNAN

NO DAMAGE OF SERIOUS NATURE REPORTED—PHONES OUT OF COMMISSION.

Yesterday's collection of storm data showed dozens of telephones out of commission. Telephones in the Morning News office were out of order nearly all day, and persons trying to get in touch with the office were unable to do so during the morning and a part of the afternoon.

In a few instances in the city, fires in exposed places were blown down, particularly in the western and north-western sections of the city.

43 inch Here.

Rainfall in Waco, according to Dr. I. Block, local weather observer, totaled .43 of an inch, but it was heavier in some portions of the county. At Speegleville a heavy rain was reported, while near Crawford a heavy precipitation came. At Robinson it was not so heavy, and on the J. E. Horne place below Waco ten miles the precipitation was about like it was at Waco, but many farms in that region were not needing rain, having received two or three inches ten days ago. On the Friman ranch, forty-five miles northwest of Waco, the best rain for several months fell. At West, twenty miles north of Waco, a rain estimated by some at two to three inches, fell. A high wind was in evidence at Goldina, in Falls county, one or two small houses being blown over, but no one was hurt.

STORM AFFECTS COTTON.

By Associated Press.
New Orleans, April 28.—Rains in Texas caused a drop of four to seven points in the cotton market here today but improvement immediately followed on prospects of much colder weather over the belt, which the trade feared meant damage to young cotton.

AVIATORS TALK OF U. S. PART IN FRENCH "DRIVE"

SEE AMERICA'S BEST AID IN AVIATION WORK ON BATTLE FRONTS OF EUROPE.

By Associated Press.

British Headquarters in France, via London, April 28.—(From a Staff Correspondent of the Associated Press.)—Wholly informal but decidedly interesting conversations between British and French flying corps officers as regards the possibility of early American participation in this fascinating phase of the war have been going on behind the lines here.

It is generally agreed that, apart from naval activity, the flying service offers the quickest opportunity for effective military help from America against the common foe and the expectation is that just as the aviation branch of the service proved so attractive to the young men of both England and France, the youth of America will be drawn toward it.

Already plans are being made to increase the number of Americans now flying for France, while all the members of the British royal flying corps are ready to welcome and aid in the training of Americans in all the arts of war flying. It is realized that the United States army is not on a war basis regarding machines, but it is understood that both the British and French services are prepared to furnish them temporarily just as these two services now exchange machines as necessity demands.

America, of course, is expected to throw her organizing and manufacturing ability into supplying their own machines to her fliers, but the modern airplane with its tremendous power housed in a very compact, very light engine with delicate instruments, unerring balance and sensitive controls, is an extremely complicated affair and its construction is a matter of months.

Now the single seat fighting scout is the machine of the hour. Such machines must stand the terrific strain of fighting tactics—rolling, looping, nose diving, side slipping. It is a usual thing nowadays to see a pilot seemingly fall out of control 2,000 feet or more, then flattening out and sailing serenely away. The strain of this maneuver is tremendous.

The Associated Press correspondent has talked with many British flying officers of distinction and all agree that the only way to train men for war flying is in actual fighting. They frankly say that in this war many men may be lost, but that those who survive are worth their weight in gold and prove brilliant flight and squadron leaders.

Officers of the British flying corps say that America must be prepared to pay such a price; that she must remember this when the losses begin to mount up. She must understand, they pointed out, that out of these losses will come men who will reflect glory upon her colors and lend brilliance to the brighter pages of her history.

SPAIN TO KEEP OUT.

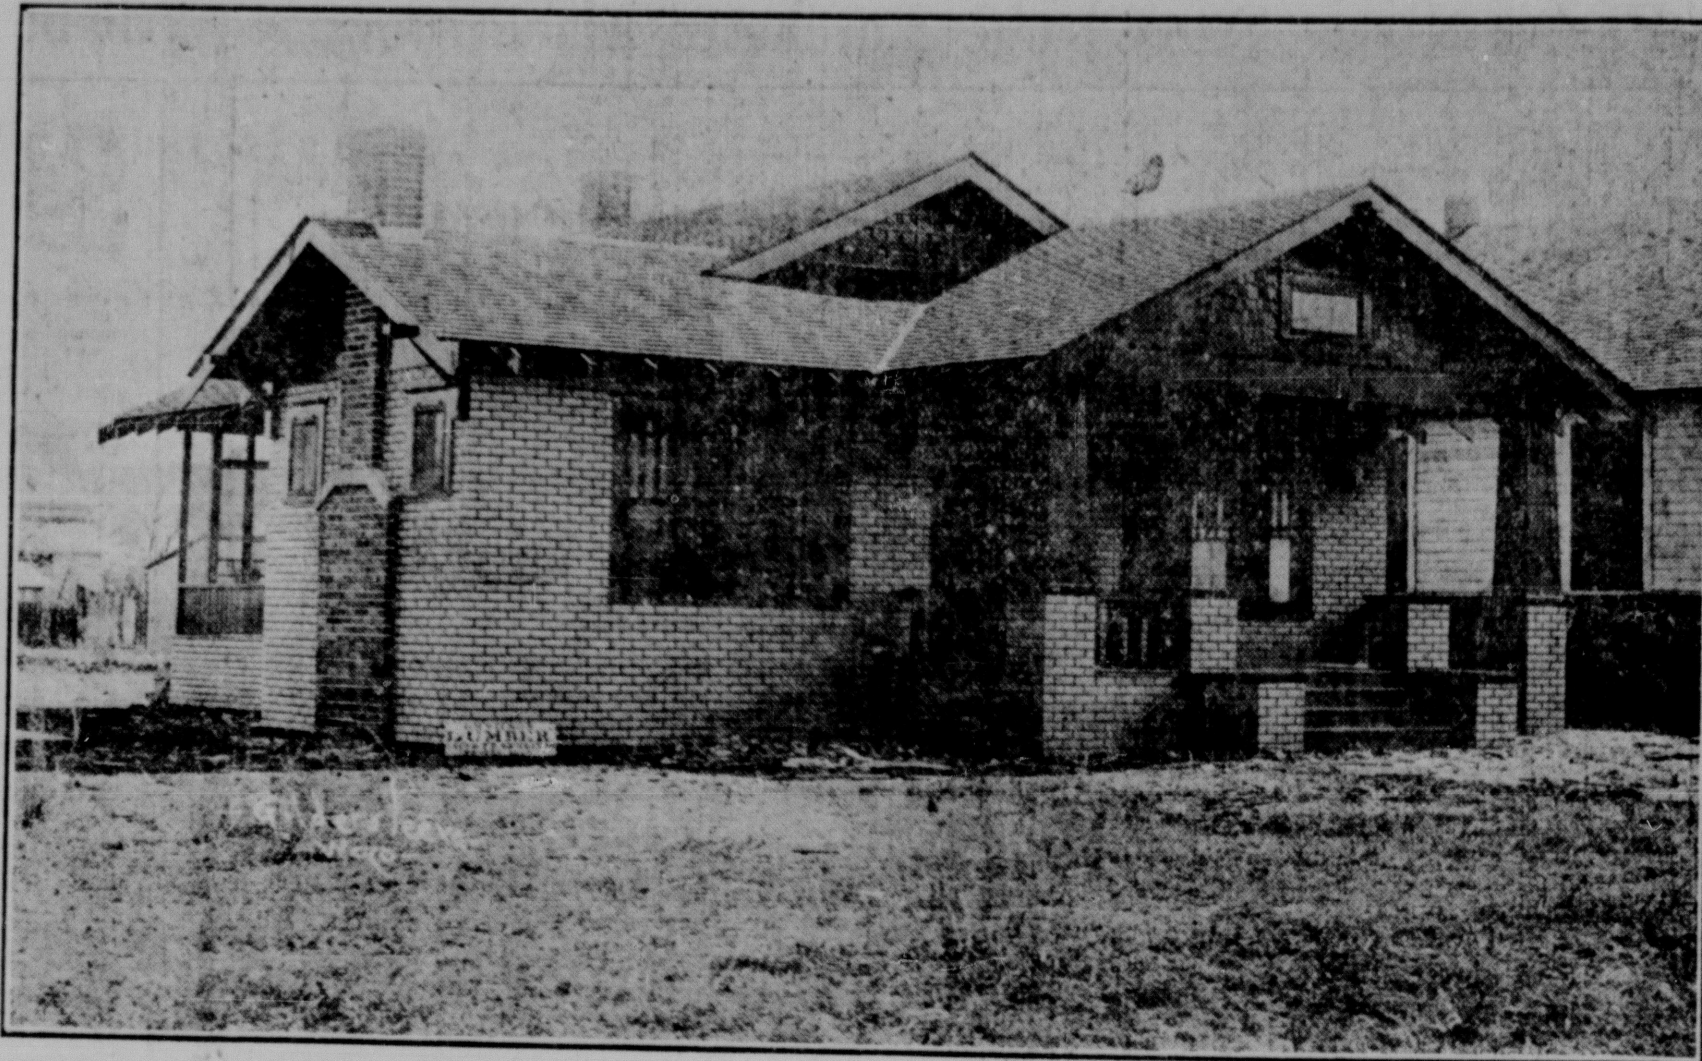

By Associated Press.
Madrid, Spain, April 28.—Spain has entered on a settled policy of keeping out of the European war, of observing neutrality despite any temporary complications and embarrassments this policy may cause her, and of thus occupying a vantage ground between the belligerents which will naturally turn them towards Spain as the mediating power when the time comes to settle the conflict. This is not only the view of the party in power as stated by its leaders in the government, Count Romanones, president of the council of ministers, and Senor Gimeno, minister of foreign affairs, but also by Senor Edouard Dato, chief of the conservative party, in the course of a talk today with the representatives of the Associated Press.

Senor Dato was president of the council of ministers at the beginning of the war, and it was he who first put into operation the policy of neutrality which has since been followed by his successor, Count Romanones. Since retiring from the presidency, Senor Dato has been the strong driving force of all the opposition elements in the Cortes, and if there was to be any change of present policy it would have to come about largely through his direction. But instead of combating the government, Senor Dato is supporting it in its present course.

"There is in fact little or no division of opinion among parties or in the sentiment of the country at large as to the observance of absolute neutrality," said Senor Dato. "It is the accepted view of practically all the parties and groups with only here and there some individual view in opposition. And it is that which has aroused the belief that when the opportune moment arrives for terminating the conflict, Spain may be the medium for realizing such a noble result."

Senor Dato does not feel, however, that there is any present prospect of adjusting the war, and he accepted the view generally prevailing in well-informed circles in Spain that a long contest is ahead before the contending parties will consider any terms of settlement. Like most public men, he looks upon the prestige and wide personal popularity of King Alfonso as likely to bring Spain forward as the neutral power capable of performing a useful service between the belligerents when the opportune time arrives. But that is not regarded as now imminent, the vigor of the spring campaign and the bitterness of both sides having indicated that all present chance of adjustment is abandoned, so that less and less is now heard of Spain's mediating influence, which is now entirely reserved for the future.

Senor Dato's name is best known in connection with the legislation for social welfare and the working classes which he has accomplished. Under his leadership, laws have been enacted compensating workmen for accidents occurring in the course of their employment, establishing a bureau of state insurance for workmen and their families, and improving the general condition of the working classes.

"It is rather a remarkable fact," said Senor Dato, "that while the socialist parties in France, Italy, England, Germany and many other countries have a large representation in their parliaments, we have only one socialist member in the Spanish Cortes. This is probably due to the close and almost family attachment between the people of the upper and lower classes in Spain. While they are in different stations, the line of separation is not drawn between them as in other countries, and with us it is customary to see a member of aristocracy shaking hands with his consierge, whereas any such familiarity is unknown in England and Germany. It has brought about a greater feeling of trust between all classes of people in Spain, and particularly between capital and labor. With the exception of a few radicals who agitate the people, we have virtually no organizations for stirring up strikes and comparatively little unrest among the working classes. When differences arise between capital and labor, they are adjusted by mutual co-operation and seldom by strike.

"After all," added Senor Dato, "the state itself is best adapted to carry out work of social welfare for the people, and if it does this wisely it will overcome most of the popular unrest. It is with this end in view that I have had some part in the legislation we enacted for workmen's compensation.

LIKE ELECTRIC BUTTON ON TOES

TELLS WHY A CORN IS SO PAINFUL AND SAYS CUTTING MAKES THEM GROW.

Press an electric button and you form a contact with a live wire which rings the bell. When your shoes press against your corn it pushes its sharp roots down upon a sensitive nerve and you get a shock of pain.

Instead of trimming your corns, which merely makes them grow, just step into any drug store and ask for a quarter of an ounce of freezone. This will cost very little but is sufficient to remove every hard or soft corn or callosity from one's feet. A few drops applied directly upon a tender, aching corn stops the soreness instantly, and soon the corn shrivels up so it lifts right out, root and all, without pain. This drug is harmless and never inflames or even irritates the surrounding tissue or skin.

insurance, etc., which is not only proving a success in operation and a great benefit to the working people, but is also serving to keep up that mutual confidence which exists between all classes of our people and which has spared us very largely thus far from popular agitation."

LIBERTY BUT RECENT.

Stockholm, Sweden, April 28.—How comparatively recent religious liberty is in Sweden is recalled by the death at his home in Stenberg, Orsa, of Nas Pehr Pehrsson, pioneer of the Baptist faith in the kingdom. Pehrsson, who was 88 years old at his death, underwent a long series of persecutions from the authorities of the state church in the middle of the last century, and even suffered imprisonment for his religious activities.

He was twice sentenced to jail terms on a diet of bread and water. Nothing could dampen his ardor, however, and his persecutions ceased after the abolition of the "conventicle act" in 1858. He became the most widely known lay preacher in Sweden, and founded various Baptist congregations.

EUROPE NEEDS SUGAR.

The Hague, Netherlands, April 28.—Europe will need no less than 2,000,000 tons of sugar from overseas in 1917. Where is it to come from, asks Dr. H. C. Prinzen Geerligs, a leading Dutch authority.

Communicating in the Indian Mercury the results of a careful inquiry into Europe's sugar problem as created by the war, this expert arrives at the conclusion that the prevailing sugar scarcity probably will become still more pronounced in the near future. It is already certain that the 1916-17 European crop will be a disappointing one, and that in general it has not yielded enough to allow of an unlimited consumption even in the countries of production, regardless of the possibility of an export.

The estimates for Germany do not put the yield at more than 1,600,000 tons, or only enough for a moderate, economical consumption. In Austria-Hungary the production is large enough for a normal consumption.

None of the European producing countries have anything to export, whereas France, Italy, Switzerland, Norway and Russia are likely to need more or less large imports. Great Britain is entirely dependent on overseas countries for its sugar. Putting the British import requirements in 1917 at 1,300,000 tons, France needs at least 400,000 and the import requirements of the other countries named at 200,000 tons, a total is arrived at of 2,000,000 tons.

Dr. Prinzen Geerligs concludes that Britain will be mainly dependent for its supplies on the United States, Cuba and Java. In Java the crop has turned out very well, yielding 1,617,000 tons of sugar or about 300,000 tons more than in the preceding year. The area planted for 1917 has been somewhat extended, and the prospects of the next crop are very good, so that about 1,600,000 tons may be again expected.

In 1916, Cuba and the United States together sent 1,589,446 tons of raw sugar to Europe, and as Java shipped over 500,000 tons to the same destination, these countries alone provided last year an amount equal to the present estimated needs.

The crops in the United States, Porto Rico, Hawaii and the Philippines, are, altogether, a little larger than the previous year. Sugar consumption in the United States in 1916 was somewhat less than in 1915, while the Cuba crop for 1917 is expected to be larger than that of 1916. There will thus be certainly as large, and probably a larger surplus available in the western hemisphere than last year, and if adequate cargo space and shipping facilities are available to bring it safely across, overseas countries will be in a position to fully meet Europe's requirements.

The great question in 1917 thus resolves itself into one of transport, concludes this sugar authority.

COMMERCIAL CHAOS LATER.

By Associated Press. Sydney, Australia, April 28.—In addressing a meeting of Sydney business men, the prime minister, William M. Hughes, recently said of post-war problems:

"After the war we shall enter upon an era of commercial chaos, upon a world-wide demand for goods unprovided. It is obvious that the only remedy for a trouble like this is organization. Organization must penetrate into every strata of industry."

"You must be up-to-date and put away antiquated methods from your businesses as generals have been sacrificed in the war. Efficiency, efficiency and nothing but efficiency must be your watchword and all your efforts should be directed along definite well thought out lines. This country has every material necessary for its manufactures. From German domination in our metalliferous markets we have now come to a time when Australia is determined that she will make up her products and put them into the world's markets in their finished state. Apply what has been done with metals to industry and you have some part of your difficulty solved."

PROTEST DANCES.

London, April 28.—The feeling here against dances in public places during the war has grown so strong that nearly all the hotels have decided to abandon them. The last important places to give way to sentiment in this respect were two leading hotels, patronized largely by Americans. About the only dancing in London is in private clubs and at house parties.

BODY OF GUTHRIE LEAVES JAPAN

IS ABOARD JAPANESE CRUISER AZUMA, BOUND FOR SAN FRANCISCO.

By Associated Press. Yokohama, April 28.—Bearing the body of George W. Guthrie, late American ambassador to Japan, the Japanese cruiser Azuma left this port late today for San Francisco by way of Honolulu. The cruiser was escorted outside the bay by the battleship Suwa.

After a service conducted by Bishop McKim of Tokio the body of the late ambassador was transported to the pier where it was received by a company of bluejackets. As the boat on which the coffin was being towed to the Azuma passed, warships in the harbor fired a salute of nineteen guns and the band on the Azuma played a dirge.

Mrs. Guthrie and a company of prominent Japanese including Foreign Minister Motono, Vice Foreign Minister Shidehara and Admirals Shimamura, Ijima, Dewa and Sasaki and the staffs of the American embassy and consulates at Tokio and Yokohama boarded the Azuma for the farewell ceremonies. The casket was enfolded in an American flag and placed in the admiral's room on the warship, where it was surrounded by wreaths sent by the emperor, Prime Minister Terauchi, Foreign Minister Motono and Vice Admiral Kato. Another tribute was a wreath made by the crew of the Azuma.

Commanders Riroaki Tamura and Genkanichi Nakajima, of the Japanese navy sailed on the Azuma as an honorary escort along with Charles J. Arnett of the American embassy. Col. Roosevelt was shown an Associated Press bulletin saying that Senator Harding's amendment to the army draft bill permitting him (Roosevelt) to raise troops for European service, he paused in his speech, a smile spread his face and he exclaimed repeatedly "Bully! Bully!"

"What is it?" demanded a voice from the crowd.

"I'll tell you in a minute. Just wait a moment," the colonel replied and concluded his speech.

When Colonel Roosevelt read the dispatch the entire audience arose and cheered several minutes.

"Now we'll go, Teddy. Now we are ready," came from numbers of throats.

"I want to say," continued the colonel, "that this amendment was carefully drawn not to interfere in the slightest degree with the president's plan for obligatory service. I want to be put myself in a position not to say go to the front, but come to the front."

WAR BRINGS MUSIC.

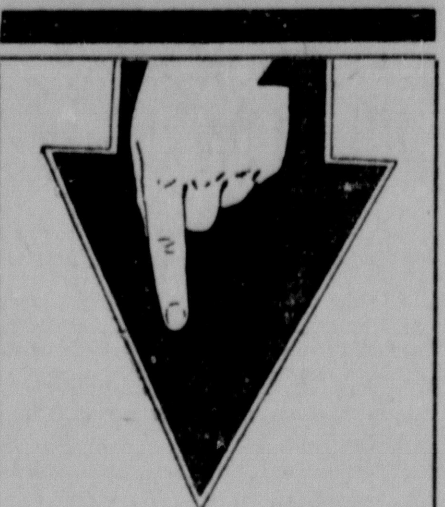

By Associated Press. Madrid, Spain, April 28.—One of the unexpected results of the war for Spain is to fill the country with music, from the bands of orchestras of Hungarian gypsies driven out of France and taking refuge here. These bands are among the most famous in Europe. They are usually located at Paris, Monte Carlo, Nice and other centers of gay life. But when the war began these players, being enemy Hungarians, had to get out of France or be interned as enemy prisoners. Going back to Hungary meant shouldering a rifle and laying down the violin, which is not to the taste of these gypsies. And so they all migrated westward to Spain, adding to the musicians already here and literally filling the country with music.

The gypsies of the east fit in well with those of Spain, who are still here as a relic of the days of the Moors. One of the features of all the grand entertainments now is to have one of the Hungarian gypsy bands, an Austrian Polish singer, and a Spanish gypsy dancer, usually the fiery queen of the Spanish gypsies, Pastor Imperio, who married the great Spanish bull-fighter, Guio—a queer combination, the queen of the gypsies and the king of the bull-fighters.

The music of these Bohemians is as strange a mixture as their personnel, combining the weird, oriental strains of the eastern gypsies with the fiery, torrid music of the Spaniards, and a few strains of American rag time to give dash to the dancing of the tango and two-step. This medley of music is heard everywhere now, at the gala entertainments where royalty, nobility and diplomacy gather, at the theatres, hotels and concert halls, and even in the streets, for there are all grades of these migrating players, whom the war has swept west into Spain.

If Too Fat Get Fresh Air

HOW YOU MAY REDUCE A POUND DAILY AND IMPROVE HEALTH AMAZINGLY.

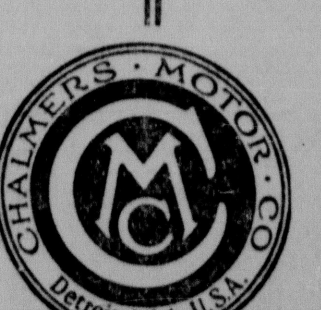

Lack of fresh air, it is said, weakens the oxygen-carrying power of the blood, the liver becomes sluggish, fat accumulates, the heart action becomes weak, work is an effort and the beauty of the figure is destroyed.

Fat put on by indolent life is unhealthy and, if nature is not assisted in throwing it off, a serious case of obesity may result.

Don't wait until your health is ruined through carrying around a burden of unsightly and unhealthy fat.

Spend some time daily in the open air; breathe deeply, and get from any druggist a box of oil of korein capsules; take one after each meal and one before retiring at night, also following the other simple directions that come with the box.

Weigh yourself every few days and keep up the treatment until you are down to normal. Oil of korein is absolutely harmless, is pleasant to take, helps the digestion, and even a few days' treatment is likely to show a noticeable reduction in weight. This system has succeeded when other remedies, etc., have failed. It is the delight of those who wish to improve their figure and acquire younger appearance.

HENRY BELIEVES MEXICAN CONDITIONS NEAR NORMAL

That tranquility and peaceful conditions are near in Mexico, and that Carranza already has matters well along toward the establishment of a stable government there, is the belief of ex-Congressman R. He believes that the Villa followers have degenerated into a little horde of bushwhackers and adventurers and that their power has been permanently broken.

MISS M'CAULEY GIVES PAPER ON CHILD READING

APPEARS BEFORE COUNCIL OF MOTHERS WHICH MET AT HIGH SCHOOL WEDNESDAY.

Miss Pauline McCauley read the following excellent paper on children's reading before the Council of Mothers, which met at the high school Wednesday. The paper is printed by request:

"Since it is impossible in a brief talk to cover the broad subject of children's reading, I shall confine myself to suggestions for fostering this taste, suggesting methods which the mother, the teacher and the librarian may employ with successful results.

"I shall give suggestions to the mother first for obvious reasons. She is the natural person to direct the reading of her child, and, having him with her constantly, she has a better opportunity to direct his tastes. It is in the home that the child forms the most permanent elements of his character. Here his familiarity with books should begin and here that he should get the literary aspiration. Indeed, if a permanent taste for the best in literature is not formed before the child is old enough to go to school or to use the library it will probably not be formed at all. It is a well known fact that the information a child is given and the tastes he forms before he is seven are retained more readily than that which he acquires at any period of his life. Since he is usually six or seven years of age before he starts to school it devolves upon the mother to see that her child has this taste instilled before that time.

"It is impossible to over-estimate the importance of a healthy physical condition of a human being and there cannot be the highest mental development without a normal physical state. However, when one considers that if every mother would devote only a few minutes of each day to telling her child a story or in reading to him what a wonderful fund of enjoyment she is storing up for him to draw upon during the years to come, it does seem almost as important that she form this habit.

Fail to Start Right.

It is unfortunately true that many mothers have not had the advantage of such early training themselves and are at a loss as to how to proceed. That a mother has not had this early training is no reason that she should not begin her own education along these lines when she realizes that it is her duty to point the way to her baby. Neither did she have the scientific care and feeding that she is giving her baby. Just as she reads the best books and consults expert advice on the physical needs of her child so she should do regarding his mental growth.

Training children for a love of good literature should be begun while they are yet in the cradle. Before he can speak a baby shows a love of rhythm in his enjoyment of lullabies his mother sings to him. This love of rhythm should be carefully nurtured.

"The baby's first book will naturally be a picture book, for pictures appeal to him early and with great force. Discretion should be exercised in the selection of these, however. A child is by nature imitative and if shown cheap and tawdry pictures he will imitate these. If, on the other hand, he is shown the best he will take the characters represented for his heroes and endeavor to live up to the ideal he has formed of them through a study of the pictures.

Discuss French Authors.

"The French illustrator Boutet de Monvel has given us the most ideal pictures for young children. One of the best examples of his art is the Story of Joan of Arc. In addition to educating the taste for a love of the beautiful in color and form, the study of this book will give a child an accurate knowledge of the tragic history of its heroine, of the life and times of France of the period in which she lived, of the armor worn in war and of court customs.

"An English picture book, which is equally as interesting, is 'Four and Twenty Dollars,' by F. D. Bedford. Twenty-four pictures of men engaged in as many occupations are produced with simple drawings which can be easily understood by very small children.

"The best and most characteristic pictures produced in this country are probably those of Jessie Wilcox Smith, though those done by Arthur Rackham, Maxfield Parrish and others are excellent.

"A child should not be kept upon the bottle diet of nursery rhymes and pictures too long. In fairy tales, myths, hero tales of chivalry, etc., all should come at a very early age. Many parents fear that the minds of their children will be permanently injured if they are taught, or even allowed to learn, anything more advanced than nursery rhymes before they start to school. As a matter of fact, students of child study assert that a child's mind is able to grasp any information about which he is able to ask an intelligent question—and I am quite sure that there are few parents who have not been asked many questions by quite small children which they were unable to answer.

The Fairy Tales.

"Taking up fairy tales, myths and hero tales of chivalry in the order named, many parents object to their children reading fairy tales on the grounds that they teach them to be untruthful. There are good and bad fairy tales as there are all classes of literature. However, when well selected there is no better means of developing a child's imagination than by the reading of fairy tales. Furthermore, a taste for the classics is developed. Indeed, he will not be able to appreciate really good literature to the fullest extent if in childhood he has not had the foundation of fairy tales, myths and folk lore. They will become a part of him, as it were, and when he meets the characters of the stories in his reading later in life he recognizes them as old friends. Unfortunately is the man who has not had these as a child. He can never derive the purest enjoyment from his reading in later years. True, he can consult a dictionary of mythology to locate the characters to which frequent allusions are made in the classics, but, not having become familiar with them at the impressionable age, he is unable to retain what he learns of them.

"While a child is reading fairy tales he may be led to enjoy romance, epics and ballads. Some of the best of these are 'King Arthur' and the 'Knights of the Round Table,' from which the purest ideas of chivalry may be gained; the legends of Charlemagne; Stories of Beowulf, Roland and Siegfried; Greek and Norse mythology; the Niebelungelied and Spenser's 'Faerie Queen.' Many people believe that these will not appeal to children. This is true only in the case of a child's having had his literary taste vitiated by the cheaper type of reading. If during the first twelve years of his life a child has been allowed to read nothing but the best literature that is adapted to his widening range of thought, there need be no fear that he will ever care to read that which is not good.

"A child by nature loves the elements which go to make up a good history or biography—brave deeds, varied adventures and swiftly moving events. Yet few children read history and biography. The fault lies in the fact that the foundation was not laid at the proper age for the enjoyment of this class of reading later.

"The most difficult problem in the selection of children's books is the fiction. There is so much written and so little that is good. Good fiction is not only entertaining, but has an educative value. In addition to the pure English in which it is written, the descriptions, narratives of the lives of great men and women, historical facts, etc., are often found in fiction. Some features to be avoided in the selection of fiction are: books in which improbable conditions are represented, a smart boy rewarded for his cleverness; those in which children ridicule their parents; snobbishness made attractive; insipid and goody-goody stories, and those in which the disobedient girl is made the most popular girl in school.

For the Boy.

"Every boy passes through the stage when his imagination and mental nature needs adventure and adventure he must have. If he is not given the right sort of adventure stories he will probably read the wrong sort—and all book stores have them. Under the name of 'Boy Scout' more yellow or sensational literature has been published within the last few years than good. We all know that the organization of the Boy Scouts is commendable and has done a great deal for the boys from which it is made up. This very fact has given the authors of cheap fiction the opportunity to exploit their wares, using the name of 'Boy Scout' in the title. The national organization is making every effort to check the use of the name on any books but those which are censored by a committee appointed for that purpose. However, so many books are already on the market before this was begun that care must be exercised in selecting fiction said to be written for the Boy Scout.

"Coming to the second division of my subject, 'How the teacher can interest the child in reading,' next to the mother the teacher can probably do more to guide the child's reading than any one else. I believe teachers do not realize how great is their influence nor that their responsibility is correspondingly great. As a rule, children have the utmost confidence in the judgment of their teacher and will read anything suggested to them by her. Indeed, if the child has not had the proper training in his home he will follow his teacher's suggestions more readily than his mother's. By reading from such classics as the 'King Arthur' stories, the 'Arabian Nights,' 'Adventures of Ulysses,' Greek myths, etc., all of which children love, the teacher may introduce the children to a wealth of literature from which they will derive a lasting pleasure.

"Passing to the librarian's influence over the child's reading, a children's librarian who has the proper conception of her duty and who knows good literature for children, can exert a great influence for good over the children who come to her. Where she has the entire charge of the children's room the children learn to know her and have confidence of her feeling of friendship for them. She has an advantage in working with the books constantly, thus being able to give the child the book best suited to his age and taste.

"By means of the weekly story hour she is able to introduce the children to the best in literature. Since the stories are not told merely for the purpose of entertaining, but that the child's imagination may be quickened and his interest aroused in good literature, he is directed to the collection of books containing material parallel to the stories told. Many children thus acquire an interest in history, the lives of great men and women, mythology and other literature of a high order.

"Great care is exercised in planning the series of stories to be told each year and only the best is told. At various times cycles have been arranged from the 'King Arthur' stories, 'Robin Hood,' Charlemagne, Norse and Greek mythology and the Niebelungelied. During the present year a cycle is being told of stories from American history.

"To summarize, it is the mission of the teacher to read only the best literature to the children, to recommend the same and to assign it as supplementary reading when possible. The librarian should furnish this literature, seeing that only the best may be found upon the shelves devoted to children's literature. She should assist the child, the teacher and the mother in selecting the book best suited to the particular occasion. However, neither the teacher nor the librarian can assume the responsibility of the mother. It is her duty to supervise the reading of her child most rigidly and to use every means in her power to influence him to read only the best literature."

VOLLEY BALL TOURNAMENT.

Volley ball is the chief form of outdoor amusement and exercise at the present. There are several private courts in the city, and the Y. W. C. A. court is in constant use.

On Mrs. George McLendon's court both men and women play two afternoons a week, three ladies and three men on each side. The Clintons have a court and games are in progress twice a week. Mrs. Walter Lacy has a splendid court, where many volley ball enthusiasts get to try their skill.

Two teams at the Y. W. C. A. consider themselves the best in the city. They have been playing longer than any other teams and have become very proficient. The teams with their new captains are: Mrs. Adrian Moore, captain, with Mesdames Clint Padgett, Eva Prendergast, W. A. Little, Ida Orand and A. B. Hughes; the other team, Mrs. Erwin Clark, captain, with Mesdames Sid Burrows, Kelly, Arthur Upleger, R. B. Dupree and Miss Nora Gorman. A tournament lasting a month has been decided upon, the two teams to play each other every Tuesday and Friday mornings at the Y. W. C. A.

The week will be purely a week of instruction. Five different school buildings will be utilized as headquarters. No more definite plans have as yet been given out. Those desiring information may communicate with Mrs. Long.

WACO PEOPLE AT BELTON MUSIC CLUB.

Mrs. T. S. Lovette, who has been a guest of Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Weatherly this past week, has returned to Belton, where as vice president of the Belton Music club she will take an active part in the final preparations for the coming concert by the St. Louis Symphony orchestra on May 3, which is the last of the series which this civic organization has been the means of bringing to Belton county.

Among the Waco people who have planned to make auto parties for this occasion are Mr. and Mrs. Sparks Durham, Miss Mabel Chambers, Mr. and Mrs. E. N. McNutt and S. T. Barton.

Y. W. C. A. CAMP FOR GIRLS.

Beginning June 30, there will be held a summer camp for members of the Young Women's Christian association, lasting two weeks. The place for the camp has not been definitely decided upon, but it is known that the place will be within easy distance. If there are girls who cannot stay the whole time, it will be made convenient for them to come out for the week-ends or even to spend the night. It is probable that cars will be lent for the occasion.

All those who know that it will be possible for them to get away for the camp will please let the secretaries know at the earliest possible minute, as the details for the camp will depend largely upon the number of registrations. A jolly good time is in store for the Y. W. girls.

SUFFRAGE NOTES FROM FAR AND NEAR.

With the coming of the suffrage convention to Waco in May, the interest in equal suffrage has been greatly intensified. A good attendance from over the state is anticipated, and extensive plans for the welcome and entertainment of the visiting delegates are being laid.

The Little Red Shawl and the Old Black Alpaca.

One of the small but poignant features of Susan B. Anthony's life was her woman's love of beautiful clothes, a love which she laid on the altar of her devotion to the suffrage cause, joking as she gave it up in smoke, from which she herself emerged plain and rigid and drab. All through life she trod the path of the pioneer followed by the echo of her own laughter over it. What she might have spent on dress she spent on the suffrage cause. But her love of color was unconquerable, and even in the days when her dress was standardized to a black alpaca with a soft lace collar, she wore always a little red shawl. "Susan's Black Alpaca and Red Shawl Are Back in Town," used to run the headlines of the newspapers that liked to be facetious at her expense, and, before a great gathering, she told her audience how tired she got of reading about that black alpaca and how determined she became that just as black alpaca she would get the best of the newspapers by appearing in a black alpaca. The Revolution, and it was a long time before the black alpaca was forth-coming. She could hardly wait, she said, to get hold of the papers the morning after the black alpaca had been discarded for good. "The black alpaca made too good a headline to be lightly discarded for fact. Or perhaps it was because all the reporters of that day were men, with no nice feeling for the difference between alpaca and silk. Anyway, next day what she read was 'Susan's Black Alpaca Again on the Scene.'"

In China.
China now has a lively woman suffrage society, agitating for three great reforms: The abolition of the opium traffic; foot binding and child slavery. A Chinese girl can now earn her own living, can become a teacher or a nurse, can aspire to be a government student abroad, and a doctor, an editor or even a social reformer at home.

In Japan.
While there is no well-organized effort to secure woman suffrage among Japanese women, they are heading rapidly that way. The latest news from Cherry Blossom land is that one hundred thousand women have formed an organization to demand their rights and have sworn never to marry unless their prospective husbands agree to support a movement for obtaining for them equal treatment with men, matrimonially and morally, and an improved economic position.

The Connection.
There are twenty-four prohibition states. Eight of them are the negro states. Had woman suffrage farther back than January 1, 1917, there are in all eleven states that have full woman suffrage. That is to say, 72.7 per cent of the full suffrage states are dry. Sixteen manhood suffrage states, 45.1 per cent, are dry.

HOW ARK. VOTED ON SUFFRAGE.

Mr. Brinton of Craighead urged that Arkansas should be the first of the southern states to make a move for votes for women. Citing the fact that China is removing the bandages from the feet of its women so that they may walk, he pleaded that the political bandage be removed from the feet of Arkansas women so they may take their proper place as citizens.

Politics Too Dirty.
Mr. Choate of White declared that "politics is too dirty" and he objected to the fair women of the country becoming involved in it. He held them in too high esteem. Mr. Ellis of Tazewell, quoting poetry and urged his fellow members to vote against this bill "to protect and defend the homes of this land and conserve the highest and holiest influences for good extant among men."

Time Is Ripe.
Mr. Robbins of White said the time and season are ripe and we are living in the twentieth century and not in the sixteenth. "If it is right for the negro to vote," said he, "then it is unchivalrous and unjust to deny the white women the privilege. Give women the ballot and you will purify politics."

Mr. Buchanan said he would vote for the bill "through cowardice, love and affection."

Credits Woman's Victory to Women.

Mr. Johnson declared that Woodrow Wilson was elected president by the votes of the women of California. He showed the tax receipts of a woman sitting at his desk, declared that she paid more taxes every year than 99 per cent of the members and added, "Taxation without representation is tyranny."

Explanations During Roll Call.
Mr. Robbins—Believing woman is man's equal and ought to have the right whether she exercises it or not, I heartily vote aye.
Mr. Newton—I am a married man, and for self-preservation I vote aye.

and the driver were surrounded by admirers at the finish of the race. Undoubtedly some of those who purchased were influenced by the wonderful showing of the Super-Six in the race."

ANOTHER SAVAGE ADDITION ENLARGES SALES OFFICES

The Savage Tire corporation of San Diego, Cal., is adding another story over the entire office building. Workmen are now busy on construction, and the new addition is to be finished within the next sixty days. When the addition is finished the auditing and other accounting departments will be moved into it. This will give room for larger sales offices, which are made necessary by the big increase in Savage sales.

NEW NASH DISTRIBUTORS SECURED IN CORPORATION

The H. Barcroft White Corporation is one of the new Nash distributors, having represented the Nash Motors company only since the first of the year. This corporation has one of the best motor car distributing organizations in the east. They have been quick to grasp the importance of the truck situation and to sense the great public demand for Jeffery trucks. Thousands of Jeffery trucks are now in service in practically every kind of trade. These trucks are used in twenty-three foreign countries. The famous Jeffery Quad, which drives, brakes and steers on all four wheels, has played an active part in the great world war. Great fleets of these trucks are now active in the allied armies. A large number has been purchased by the United States government for army service.

Dealers Drive Away More Than 500 Cars In Two Days

GOODYEAR TIRE COMPANY PROTECTING FOOD SUPPLY

Complying with the war-time call from Washington to "protect the food supply," the Goodyear Tire and Rubber company is already getting into intensive agriculture. Every foot of ground the company owns and that is not needed immediately for building purposes will be placed under cultivation at once. Fortunately the company has available many hundreds of acres of rich land right now. This land, which was acquired recently, surrounds a lake which is to be used to form a big reservoir for supplying water to the factory. The Wingfoot Clan, Goodyear's factory newspaper, describes the patriotic venture thus: "The work will be in charge of the labor department. Goodyear men who wish outdoor work and who wish to undertake this patriotic work for the growing season are requested to fill in the blank below and send it in. "The land at Fritch's lake comprises farm land, orchard and woodland. Over one hundred acres can be cultivated immediately and we can quickly clear any additional land needed."

On Wednesday, March 28, all records for Willys-Overland driveaways were passed when 262 cars of all models were driven from the Toledo factory by sixteen distributors and dealers in Ohio, Pennsylvania and Indiana.

This record passed the old mark by more than 100 cars.

Eric, Pa., topped the list on that date with the biggest individual drive-away, taking 105 cars, ranging from the Light Four to the Willys-Knight Eight.

The Kalamazoo dealers took home fifty-seven cars, while the Dayton distributor drove away thirty-two. The balance was taken by thirteen smaller cities in the midwestern states.

On the following day 246 more cars were driven away by another score of dealers within a radius of 250 miles of Toledo. Cars were driven to Louisville, Ky., Harrisburg, Pa., Youngstown, Ohio, and Cleveland, Ohio. Youngstown led the list on that day with seventy-eight cars.

"Driveaways have come to stay," said one dealer while at the Toledo factory to drive away a string of cars.

"No longer can we consider drive-away circus stunts to achieve publicity. They have become a matter-of-fact solution of the automobile builder's transportation problem. "Although the driveaway has some inconveniences, these are more than counterbalanced by the advantages derived. For one thing it is quicker than the fastest train, and as quick as express service would be if we could get it or afford it.

"Another big advantage is that the cars reach our customers in better running condition than if they had been shipped by railroad or steamer.

"As everybody knows, it requires a few hundred miles of running to put a car in its best shape.

"In drive aways, this 'timbering-up' process is practically completed.

"That is why a good many dealers intend to continue driving away their cars even after traffic conditions are improved."

SPANIARDS ARE BUYING MOON MOTOR CARS

According to the old song, "In Spain they say, they dance all day." That was the case, but indications now point to the fact that many of the light-footed Spanish will ride in Moon cars instead. On April 23 the Moon Motor Car company shipped a carload of Moon automobiles to Cadiz in Spain, and another carload went forward the same day to Barcelona. The shipment to Cadiz was on an order of the regular agent of the Moon company, but the Barcelona order was the result of foreign advertising, which brought the inquiry and the sale.

The Moon Motor Car company has found no difficulty in the forwarding of these shipments, and the shipping agents in New York seem to have no fear of submarine interference. According to Stewart McDonald, general manager of the Moon Motor Car company, the people of Spain are turning from the English cars to those of American make.

SAXON "TRAIL BLAZER" Is Coming Soon. Look For It!

SAXON—the car for which "Every Hill is a Playground"—is the car of which people naturally expect the unusual. A task which would be difficult or impossible for any other automobile, is a matter of play for the SAXON.

That is why no one gasped with astonishment when the little SAXON FOUR "TRAIL BLAZER" left Washington, D. C., after the inauguration last March on a trip around the National Boundary Line. There were, of course, some Doubters. But they are rapidly being "shown." For the plucky little car is making good on every stage of the big journey. The Everglades of Florida—the Swamps of Louisiana and Deserts of Wyoming and Arizona—were scarcely more difficult for the SAXON FOUR than a drive through Cameron Park for most cars.

THE SAXON TRAIL BLAZER is now in Texas—and while here will make a side trip to Waco. You will be notified of the time of its arrival so that you may see this wonderful car—a car taken from stock—a car the "first cousin" of the SAXON which, during the Texas Cotton Palace, carried and pulled a load of 15,000 pounds through the streets of Waco—a feat that thousands of people who read this ad saw with their own eyes.

SAXON "Four" $540 f.o.b. Waco

Saxon "Trail Blazer" Collects Valuable Data

Data of great military value is being collected by the little SAXON FOUR. The drivers are listing all information of value, mapping the roads, etc.

THE PRIMARY OBJECT OF THIS TRIP is to show the entire feasibility—if not the VITAL NECESSITY—of a NATIONAL BOUNDARY HIGHWAY completely around the country.

IT IS ALSO A SUFFICIENT TEST OF the POWER, the ENDURANCE and the DEPENDABILITY of the SAXON FOUR—the greatest little car ever built.

Over Mountain and Valley Through Desert and Swamp
The route of the Saxon "Trail Blazer" will circumscribe the whole of the United States. From Washington down the Atlantic coast it has already gone to Florida, west along the Gulf of Mexico and across the Mexican boundary. From Texas it will strike out for the Pacific coast, thence north to the northern boundary line, and back across the continent to Maine, then down the Atlantic coast to Washington again.

When the trip is completed the SAXON FOUR will have set a new world's record. It will be the first vehicle of any kind to completely traverse the United States.

SAVAGE OFFICIAL GOES EAST ON BUSINESS TRIP

H. N. Mabery, secretary and treasurer of the Savage Tire corporation, has just started an inspection tour of the Savage Eastern sales branches that will take him to most of the larger cities in the middle west. During the last year, Savage sales branches have been opened in all of the section from Omaha, Nebraska to Cleveland, Ohio. In this section there are more than 1,500 distributors handling Savage tires and Grafite tubes. Mr. Mabery's trip will extend as far east as Cleveland.

PUSH CLOCK FORWARD.

The Hague, Netherlands, April 28.—A government inquiry having conclusively shown that the advantages yielded by the institution of "summer" time in Holland last year outweighed the disadvantages, both from an economic and social standpoint, a bill has been introduced in parliament to put the clock forward again one hour during the five months beginning April 16 and ending September 16 next. "Summer" time will thus begin and end a fortnight earlier than last year.

The actual transition has been fixed to take place, both at inauguration and close, on Sunday night, because few freight trains are then running. The convenience of the railways has been consulted in the dates appointed, which correspond with Germany's summer time period. The measure again relates only to one year, it being thought best that the permanent institution of the daylight saving scheme shall be deferred until it is seen what neighboring countries will do in this respect.

The only objections to "summer" time have been raised on the part of agricultural communities. Farmers' associations asked that, in the country districts, later school hours should be arranged when the clock is put forward.

SPEAKING OF SPRING By Walt Mason.

The winter, long and cold and gray, packed up his grip and sloped away. He thought that he would never go, and take his punk old frost and snow, but finally he gave three whoops, and cashed his checks, and looped the loops.

And now the gaudy spring's at hand; and once again the age-old land, looks just as fresh and new and fine as when Dad Adam fed his swine. The brooks are sparkling in the sun; the fields are green that have been dim; the robins sing, the skies are blue, the world seemed just as good as new.

And this is when the country calls; we weary of town streets and walls. We want to rise at break of dawn, and go cavorting here and yon, o'er long white roads, through glade and glen, to Yuba Dam and back again.

'Tis in the spring that men exclaim, "It's time we broke into the game, and bought us cars, in which to ride all o'er the blooming countryside. We've been deprived of four-wheeled boats, for cost of living got our goats; and we have said, each verdant spring, 'We'll buy a car next year, by jing!' And now the time has come to buy; we want to ride before we die."

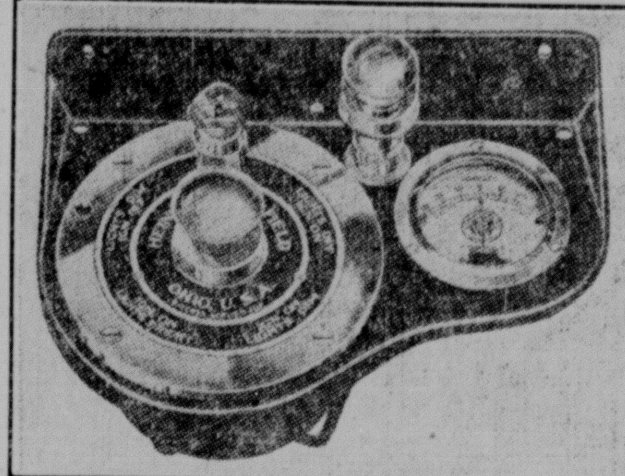

And since a million men or more will buy their cars ere spring is o'er, it seems to be the proper time to boost the Haynes, in prose and rhyme. Prospective buyers hear a strain that sometimes undermines the brain. They hear so many gorgeous tales from men intent on making sales, they get confused and full of pains—until they journey in the Haynes. When once they're riding in that car, where those soft springy cushions are; when once they see it eat the road, still purring underneath its load, their problem will be solved and they will buy the Haynes car, right away.

The car that doesn't bring you grief, that makes the longest road seem brief.

ERSKINS SEES PROSPERITY ERA FOR THIS NATION

PRESIDENT OF STUDEBAKER CORPORATION SAYS THIS NO TIME FOR PESSIMISM.

Now that the country has been thoroughly embroiled in the titanic world war, there exists in the minds of some men a feeling of uncertainty as to its effect upon business conditions here on this side of the Atlantic. Contrary to a rather general impression that prevails in this country, "big business" is apparently not at all worried over the international complications. The following statement from A. R. Erskine, president of the Studebaker Corporation, certainly sounds an optimistic note concerning future prospects:

"A state of war always stimulates an active demand for the products of the mines, fields and factories," says Mr. Erskine, "and the United States has felt this demand from foreign countries for the past three years to an extensive degree. The entry of the United States into the war simply increases the demand, and consequently, large increases in prices have ensued recently for all agricultural products, livestock and food supplies generally. The demand for munitions and war supplies continues very heavy, not only from the allies but from our own government, and consequently the industries of the country are and will continue to be operated at full capacity upon these orders. Thus, it is evident that our people in all pursuits are receiving large incomes, perhaps greater than ever before in our history, and as long as this condition lasts, business will be good."

SANDPAPER TESTED TO REDUCE COST ITEMS

Of the countless details entailed in the manufacture of Dodge Brothers motor car, one of the most unique is the test which determines the relative worth of two seemingly insignificant articles—sandpaper and emery cloth.

Ordinary manufacturers are usually content to use any one of the many brands which have offered to users of abrasives, feeling that the difference between the mis so slight that any possible saving would be insignificant. But Dodge Brothers, in their desire to reduce costs and raise manufacturing standards, felt that even the selection of sandpaper could be made on an efficiency basis.

With this end in view the experts in Dodge Brothers laboratories designed a machine which indicates very accurately the quality of the various makes of sandpaper and emery cloth submitted to the purchasing department.

EMPIRE BRINGS OUT NEW 4-CYLINDER TOURING CAR

The Empire Automobile company, Indianapolis, is just announcing a new four-cylinder, five-passenger touring car, designed as model 50. On account of its extraordinary fine appearance, great powers of performance and easy riding qualities the new model is meeting with an enthusiastic reception everywhere it has been shown.

The model 50 is the successor of the model 45 four-cylinder touring car which has been built by the Empire company for several years and is now discontinued. Many changes, refinements and improvements are made in the new model apparent both in the chassis and body.

It is an interesting fact that the new model 50 is the only motor car on the American market which has a motor of T-head design selling under $2,000. The famous Teeter-Hartley motor which has been standard in this model for several years is continued, with several improvements and refinements which always mark a standard product in the automobile industry.

CROP ROTATION PAYS.

TIME FARM

DEEP PLOWING EARLY PAYS.

The Texas agricultural experiment station now has in press a summary progress report of the work of the sub-station located at Temple, which reports as follows:

"Not only do most farmers not plow their land deep enough, but not early enough. There are many things to be said in favor of early plowing as a means of equalizing farm work and controlling insects; the best thing to say in favor of early plowing is that it pays its way."

The experiment on deep and early plowing shows a marked increase in yield of seed cotton to the acre where deep plowing is practiced. The deepest plowing—12 inches—gave the largest yields, and the shallowest plowing—4 inches—gave the smallest yield. In view of the increased cost of plowing the land to a greater depth than 8 to 10 inches, it would seem most profitable to plow 8 inches deep, which is good deep plowing for this section.

Land plowed in October showed an average gain of 26 pounds of seed cotton to the acre over land plowed in January. At 5 cents a pound this would be a gain of $1.30 for every acre plowed as early as October, and a loss of that much on every acre plowed as late as January. These results are undoubtedly of much value to the farmers of this section.

Motoring Luxury at Sensible Cost—for Car and Upkeep

And you can afford to maintain an Oakland "Six." Tire wear is light—the "Six" weighs but 2100 pounds. Gasoline bills are small—owners make 20 to 25 miles per gallon. Repair costs are low—depreciation is little. It is indeed a sensible "Six."

TRADE TRIP TO DE LEON TO TAKE PLACE MAY 10TH

SCHEDULE IS ANNOUNCED BY Y. M. B. L.—IS INITIAL PILGRIMAGE.

The schedule for the first Y. M. B. L. trade trip of the season, officially announced by the trade trip committee last night, provides for brief stops in all important towns on the Texas Central between Waco and DeLeon, covering one of Waco's richest and most profitable trade territories.

Thursday, May 10, is the date set for the initial pilgrimage of the trade trippers; the party will probably number 200 or more, including 130 firms and individuals who have signed up for the series of four trips, with a probable seventy-five or more who will buy tickets for the trips singly. The hearty response received by the ticket committee in their recent canvass for subscribers to the trips, indicates that the business men of Waco are keenly appreciative of the value of these trips, both as a means of getting better acquainted with their out-of-town customers, and as a means of becoming better acquainted with each other.

The Schedule.

Leaving Waco at 7 o'clock in the morning, the special train carrying the trade evangelists will make the following schedule:

Arrive	Town	Leave	Stop
7:33 a. m.	Rose	7:43 a. m.	10 min.
7:51 a. m.	Tolito	8:01 a. m.	10 min.

11:30 a. m.	DeLeon	11:40 a. m.	10 min.

After supper at DeLeon, the party will return direct to Waco, reaching here at an early hour in the evening. A band of fifteen or sixteen pieces will accompany the party, heading the parade at all stops and playing enjoyable concerts for the townspeople. The schedule provides stops of twenty minutes to an hour in all the larger places, thus allowing ample time for transaction of business and meeting local customers.

BACK AT THE BENCH FOR ED BAUERLE NOW

WELL KNOWN JEWELER AND WATCHMAKER OPENS STORE IN BANKERS TRUST BLDG.

His legion of friends will learn with great pleasure that Edward Bauerle, who retired Friday, April 20, 1917, as chief of the Waco fire department, after serving in that capacity for nearly two years, and who left the service voluntarily, is again in business for himself at his old trade, that of watchmaker and general repairer of watches, clocks and jewelry. Mr. Bauerle is located in the Bankers Trust building, 104 South Sixth street, where he will be pleased to meet his friends and patrons.

Until his stock of jewelry, ordered some time ago, is received, Mr. Bauerle will devote all of his time to repair work. He has very commodious quarters and the assortment he has ordered will be complete and up-to-date at all times.

Mr. Bauerle's ability as a watchmaker is best known from the hundreds here whose watches have been repaired by him in the past. As an expert in this line he is without a peer in this part of the state. He has made his profession really an art, and there is nothing pertaining to it with which he is not most familiar. To him the most complicated cases of watch and clock repairing are hailed with delight, for it is these that give him a chance to display his marked ability and workmanship.

Mr. Bauerle resumes his business connection here under the most favorable auspices, and he will give that same prompt attention to all orders that has marked his efforts in the past.—Adv.

ACCURATE FIRING MARKS SUCC

By Associated Press.

London, April 28.—Thoroughness of preparation, coolness in execution and scientific accuracy in the direction of artillery fire characterize modern battles as demonstrated in the last important conflict in the clearing of German East Africa by British forces, according to an account of the battle of Rufiji river as related by Reuters' special correspondent. This was the last campaign personally commanded by Major-General Jan Christian Smuts, the former Boer commander, and resulted in giving the British control of all the coastline and the inhabitable portion of German East Africa.

For two weary months, writes Reuters' correspondent, the army lay upon its weapons, consolidating, reorganizing, rebuilding railway lines and piling up great dumps of food and ridding itself of its sick and wounded. Then it moved forward from Morogoro. The object of the advance was the ejection of the enemy from his trenches on the Mgeta river and the seizure of the passages of the Rufiji river.

The battle was directed and controlled from an observation hill at Dathumi but General Smuts spent little time on the hill. He had made all the dispositions and issued his orders. Nothing remained for him to do and he was back in his camp calmly reading a book.

In a straw hut the brigadier general sat at a table on which was an oriented map showing the strategic and geographical points of the plans which lay before us, at his elbow the telephone and just below the hut the wireless instrument incessantly emitted sparks. Higher up the slope of the hill were the observation stations of the battery commanders.

The burning of huts at Kiruru signalled the beginning of the battle. The brigadier general, a polite little man who has lectured at the staff college for twenty years and who knows the last word in the science of warfare, especially of artillery, called the howitzer battery by telephone.

"Open fire a little to the right of the palm tree," he said. "You have the elevation and direction. The Nigerians will be on the move." Just behind the palm tree and a little to the right a great brown cloud of mud and smoke arose high in the air. From the plain came the boom of heavy guns and all along the river branch rose clouds of smoke, mud and dust.

The staff officer handed in a telegram reading: "The infantry are now about to advance; they ask artillery support."

"Bring the field guns into action," said the general.

It was all so very matter of fact. This little man who was about to let loose upon the German trenches a hell's broth of fire and disaster acted as if he were in his own drawing room, deciding how many lumps of sugar he would take with his tea. Indeed, in the same breath that he directed the battle, he discussed whether an extra can of sardines and tomatoes should be opened for breakfast or whether he would be content with herrings.

Down below on the plain the howitzers were lobbying sixty-pound shells into the German Askaris, the Nigerians were advancing by sharp rushes and the rat-tat of the machine guns and the crackle of musketry broke very faintly. Airplanes sailed over us. A message came from the Nigerians. "We are going to take the enemy's trenches; please lift gunfire." The order was passed along. "All guns lift two degrees."

Little black dots, like tiny ants, are running where the shells are bursting. The Nigerians are rushing the trenches. The forward observing officer reports that the enemy is retreating. The fifteen-pounders, man-killing guns, shower shrapnel on the German line of retreat.

The infantry report having occupied the German first line of trenches, halting for one hour to consolidate. The brigadier general commented on the difficulty of observation in the humid atmosphere and suggested a cup of tea. It seemed that nothing more would happen until after lunch, so I visited the commander-in-chief. He was occupied for the moment with a volume by George Gisselg and was satisfied with the report he had received. By dark the whole of the German entrenchments were in our hands. From a rag-time expedition, the army had developed into a scientific instrument of war.

Money in Goose Creek Wells

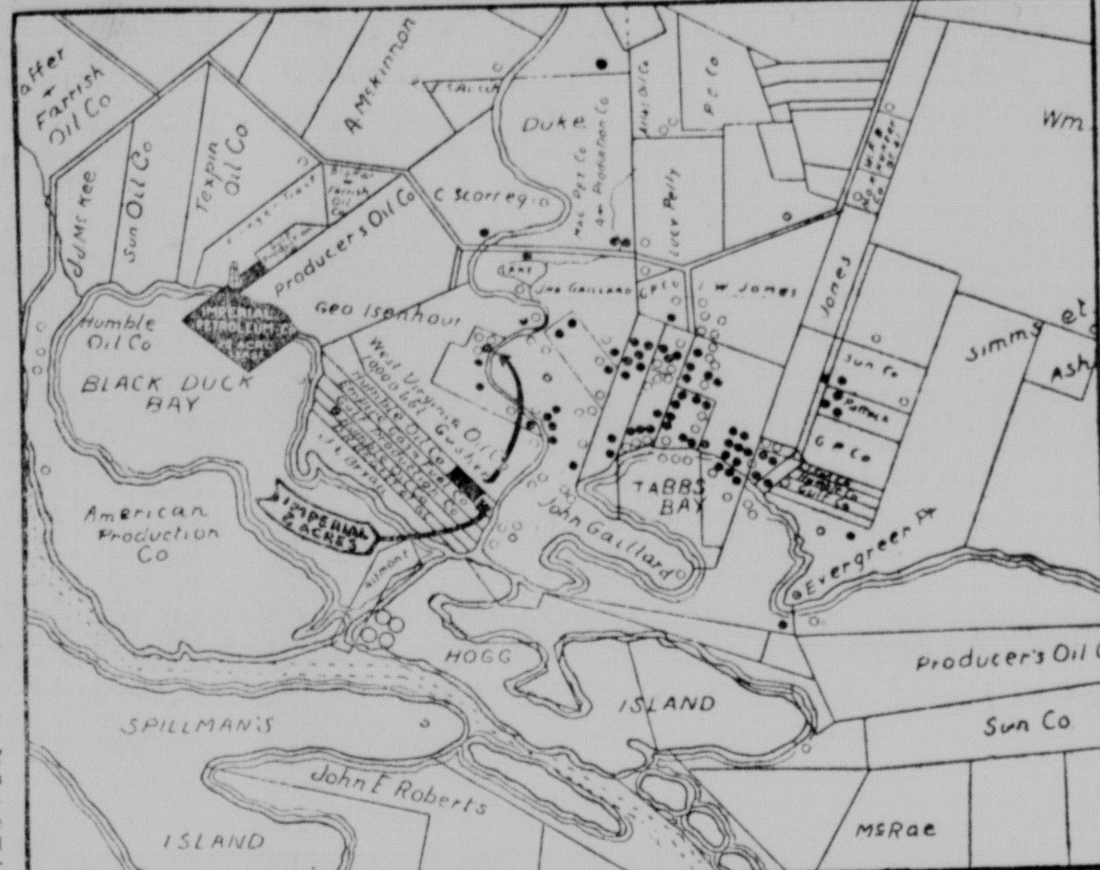

We will drill in this field—The greatest in the Southwest. Two wells to be started in May. Read below your opportunity.

Goose Creek—The Field of Big Wells

The greatest producing field in the coast country is Goose Creek. It has become the largest producer within the past eight months. No big well had come in before that. Scores of wells are now being drilled. The largest companies in the Southwest are investing enormous sums in Goose Creek development. Our leases adjoin some of these companies. Wells flowing several thousand barrels daily have come in frequently. At present price of oil there is no need to say that such wells are making fortunes quickly. Shares in some of the NEW companies operating at Goose Creek have made tremendous profits already, with the prospect of much larger profits, as the field seems only "scratched."

Imperial Petroleum Company

The above company has been organized by Houston business men and oil operators for developing oil properties. We will drill first at Goose Creek. We have three leases there—two of which are on the west side of the field where there is great activity. The company also has a lease at Humble and leases in other locations, but will develop at Goose Creek first because we are near flowing wells and expect big production. The capital of the Imperial Petroleum Company is $250,000, divided into shares of $10 par value. Sufficient stock will be sold to insure us a substantial drilling fund. The company operates under a Declaration of Trust, which vests control of its affairs in a Board of Trustees and exempts shareholders from personal liability. The trustees are successful business men in their several lines, three of the board being experienced in the oil business. Any mercantile agency can give information as to the personnel of this board. Among those who have purchased stock in this Company are some of the most prominent business and professional men of South Texas.

Machinery Being Moved

We are preparing to drill in May. In fact, we will drill as soon as material and machinery can be put on the ground. Our rig is now being moved and everything pushed for a start at the earliest date. Our driller is a man of long experience who has brought in many good wells. We are not in business to test, or experiment, but to get oil, and expect to get it. We expect to drill several wells and the well will be handled by men who know how. We will start drilling on our two-acre and 20-acre Goose Creek leases about May 15th.

To Thinking Investors

The IMPERIAL PETROLEUM COMPANY was organized by BUSINESS men to enter into the OIL BUSINESS permanently. We expect to make a success because we have holdings in some of the best territory available in the Gulf Coast fields. Enterprises of this kind are successful, in a very large measure, when properly managed, and we invite thinking investors to thoroughly satisfy themselves as to the ability of the men in charge of this Company's affairs. We urge that you be satisfied as to the favorable location of our leases. In securing these leases we have been guided not only by our own judgment, but have had the judgment of some of the most experienced and successful oil operators in the Southwest. You will note, also, that our leases ADJOIN the holdings of some of the largest companies and operators in the Goose Creek field. We have every reason to expect big oil production on these leases when our wells are completed. We prefer to sell this stock to those who consider all facts carefully. Any man who knows the Goose Creek field can give information regarding our leases and the possibility of bringing in flowing wells on the properties.

Management of the Company

The officers of the Imperial Petroleum Company are as follows: W. C. Munn, president of the W. C. Munn Company of Houston, the largest department store of the southwest. Chas. A. Bryan, president Bryan Brothers Drilling Company, Houston. J. R. Sparks of the Great Southern Life Insurance Company, Houston, and largely interested in oil. Chas. O. Guynes, of Guynes & Colgin, one of Houston's prominent law firms. L. J. Bryan, of Bryan Brothers Drilling Company, who has had years of experience in oil development.

This Is Important

For the benefit of those who desire complete information about the plans of the IMPERIAL PETROLEUM COMPANY and the oil business in general, we have published a very large, illustrated booklet, containing all particulars and many facts of great interest to investors. We will gladly send a copy of this booklet, with maps of the oil fields showing the location of our holdings, FREE OF CHARGE. Cut out the "Information Coupon" below and mail it at once.

An Invitation

We cordially invite and urge all those who consider investing in the stock of this Company to come to Houston and let us take them to Goose Creek for a personal inspection of our holdings in that field and our drilling location. We would like all to KNOW just what we have, if possible, before making a decision.

An Advance in Price

We expect an advance in the price of Imperial shares very soon. This advance will take effect after the present allotment is sold—and orders are pouring into the office at an unprecedented rate. Our advice is to buy WITHIN TEN DAYS FROM THIS DATE. We may not be able to give notice much ahead of the date of the advance.

An Attractive Offer to Investors

We offer a limited allotment of IMPERIAL PETROLEUM COMPANY shares at par, $10 each, while the allotment lasts. Orders for these shares are coming very rapidly. Men who know Goose Creek field and the location of our holdings have bought large blocks of this stock. These shares are sold for cash or on the special terms set out below. The purpose of this Company is to enter the oil business permanently—not as a temporary experiment. Our leases at Goose Creek comprise altogether more than 45 acres. Two of these leases are on the west side of the field near big wells. Oil men and business men of Goose Creek who know the location of our leases have bought IMPERIAL stock.

Study the Map

A careful study of the map showing a section of the Goose Creek oil field, and showing the location of our leases with relation to the producing wells, should convince those who have any knowledge of such matters that we are likely to get very large flowing wells when our drilling is finished. Capitalists, business men and oil men who have inspected these properties with us have bought stock in this Company—evidently because they believed we would get big production.

10,000 Barrel Well Near Us

The West-Virginia Oil Company's gusher well that came in the latter part of March, is only a short distance from our leases. This big well is reported to have made as high as 10,000 barrels a day and is one of the very best in the field. The stock of the West-Virginia Company, which is now worth 20 for 1, with very little offered at that figure.

This Gusher Near Our Leases. Newspaper Clipping of West Virginia Well.

(Houston Chronicle, March 22, 1917.)

.... This Goose Creek gusher near our leases.

The latest report from the well of the West-Virginia Oil Company of Goose Creek is that it is making more than 10,000 barrels of pipe line oil. It has created more excitement among oil men generally than any other well that has been brought in, and there is much activity in the field. There has been no exact measurement of the production, but the estimate is based on the filling of three 1200-barrel tanks yesterday. One of them filled in exactly two hours and fifty minutes. The other filled in about two hours and forty minutes. This would give the well a capacity of about 10,600 for twenty-four hours of continuous flowing.

The owners of the well are confronted with a difficult proposition in having the production properly taken care of and it is expected to be several days before this can be done. Facilities are being increased as rapidly as possible to meet the situation. In the meantime the well is getting better.

MAY FETE PLANNED.

Announcement of a May fete at Provident Heights has been made. It will take place May 2 from 4:30 to 6:30 o'clock.

is attended by a grand reception of all the foreign representatives at the royal palace, with gala performances and popular demonstrations and bull fights. But all this was omitted this year, as it was clear all the foreign representatives could not be brought together for one common rejoicing. The lenten festivals also, which are usually observed with great ceremony in Spain, are now much restricted for the same reason of neutrality. One of the most curious of these ceremonies is usually on Thursday of the last week of Lent, when the king washes the feet of twelve poor men at the palace. It is called the lavatorio, is a symbol of humility and is open to the public, who crowd the palace to witness this unusual scene. But this year the ceremony was omitted, as it would bring together the two opposing war elements. The need for this strict observance was made plain by several incidents. Before the new rules came into force there was a reception at which all the ambassadors were assembled. This brought together Prince X., the ambassador of one of the Central Powers, and Lord Y., the ambassador of an Entente Power. There was a moment's hesitation, and then the entente ambassador, to relieve the strain, smilingly extended his hand. But Prince X., instead of taking the hand, carried his own hand behind his back. Thereupon, the entente ambassador, not to be embarrassed by the affront, increased his smile into a hearty laugh and remarked: "Oh, I had quite forgotten we were at war."

There have been only two elements to keep apart up to the rupture of relations between the United States and Germany, but this has introduced a third element of countries which had broken relations but not gone to war. This break of relations kept the ambassadors apart as much as the actual existence of war. The need for separate audiences was made evident on the night word was received here recently that the United States had broken relations with Germany and given Count Bernstorff his passports. On that night the American and German ambassadors here had appointments at the same hour and place with the president of the council. There was a hurried rearrangement of hours when word came of the breach between America and Germany.

After that the new rules for separate days and hours for the three elements were scrupulously observed. But with all the precaution Spain is finding that the important role of chief neutral, while having its advantages, is attended also with many difficulties.

FASHIONS FOR AMERICANS

There is great demand for capes this spring. Some fashion designers displayed early in the season a few models that attracted attention and were adapted to a limited extent for southern wear. In a general way, however, capes were rather disregarded by the majority of women until they came into their own along with other things military.

They will likely prove by all odds the most popular wraps of the late spring and summer season.

Among the decidedly dressy numbers shown reversible capes may be mentioned. For these silk or satin, preferably the latter, issued, and it is lined throughout with a matching fabric in a contrasting color. Black satin capes are lined with gold color, rose, blue, etc., and a very charming navy blue cape recently seen was lined throughout with American Beauty Satin. Some of these capes have no arm openings; others have arm slits, plain or faced to simulate very short sleeves, while others are of the dolman type.

The vogue for vests has extended to capes also, and some of the smartest of the military looking circular capes are attached to little fitted vests in a color contrasting with the cape proper.

A model of this type is shown in the sketch.

The cape is made of navy blue spring weight velour, and the vest is of white corded silk, cut double breasted, after the fashion of a man's vest, and of course fastened with two rows of handsome white pearl buttons.

This cape fits neatly about the shoulders, and is held in place at the waist line by a band of elastic which extends around the waist in the back. The collar is of white, matching the vest.

The cape shown would be very easy to make. It is quite circular, but not full enough to envelope the figure, as it is allowed to show at all times. It makes the cape, which is full length, one and a half yards of silk thirty-six inches wide will be required for the vest and three and a half yards of fabric the same width for the cape proper. Usually the wool fabric capes are unlined.

The military influence is unmistakably expressed in the increasingly strong vogue for capes.

THE GIRL'S JOB

WHERE WOMEN ARE WANTED
BY JESSIE ROBERTS

A report has just been issued by the Intercollegiate Bureau of Occupations calling attention to its valuable statistics in regard to the work of college women.

There is a big rush for literary positions of one kind and another, more than there is demand for. The bureau shows that it is wiser for the woman who wants to insure a place for herself in the world of remunerative work to go into science of many kinds.

"The supply of women with scientific training, health, and professional ability does not meet the demand."

Nearly 5,000 women applied to the bureau last year for information and assistance in finding "the right job."

The report tells us that women trained in the various branches of science find positions in federal, state, and city work, in the bureaus of chemistry and plant industry; that they are wanted in agricultural experiment stations, and in the laboratories of city boards of health, hospitals, institutions, and industrial plants.

The report goes on to say that there is an increasing demand for women in industrial, agricultural and biological chemistry.

Filling positions of this sort presupposes a great amount of training and study, sound health, patience and enthusiasm. But the salaries are said to be fairly good as compared with many other pursuits, and the work for those fit to undertake it is deeply interesting, vitally useful and capable of great development. It is also of immense service to the country and the race, an item that will appeal to many girls looking about for jobs that are really worth a life's devotion.

The report is well worth sending for.

CONFISCATE ALUMINUM.

By Associated Press.

Berlin, April 28.—Owners of articles made of aluminum are called upon by public notice in the newspapers to declare the same to the authorities forthwith, for exportation purposes, at the uniform price of seven marks per kilogram (2.20 pounds).

Nothing made of aluminum has escaped the eye of the official aluminum collector, for in a detailed list appended to the notice, no fewer than 360 articles are named that are made of the metal which the state alone will henceforth own. Not only do the humble forks, spoons, and pans in all their varieties figure on the list, but it also specifies such articles as ash trays, pen holders, curling tongs, combs, pocket flasks, cigar and cigarette cases, toothpick holders, cuspidors and cocktail shakers.

Those who fail to declare their aluminum treasures or who do not surrender them immediately when called upon are threatened with penalties.

CUT HONEY OUTPUT.

By Associated Press.

London, April 28.—The output of honey in Great Britain has been cut in half since 1910 by the ravages of a scourge known to bee keepers as the Isle of Wight disease. It has been known to kill millions of bees within a few days. The board of agriculture declares itself helpless until it can obtain power to order the prompt destruction of infected hives.

PROTECT BOND INVESTMENTS.

By Associated Press.

London, March 28.—Plans for the co-operation of American and British investors in preventing the placing of unsound bond issues of foreign governments either in England or America, have been approved by the Corporation of Foreign Bondholders of Great Britain. The proposal was recommended recently to the Investment Bankers' association of America.

Commenting on it, in their annual report, just made public, the council of the Corporation of Foreign Bondholders declared:

"The council takes this opportunity of saying that they would gladly do all in their power to co-operate, and it seems to them that it would be a very strong weapon of defense in the hands of bondholders against defaulting governments if it were known that such co-operation existed. These governments would then realize that if they failed to comply with their obligations in this country they would find difficulties in the way of obtaining fresh money in the United States and vice versa, until they had returned to the path of honesty."

Protection of the interests of holders of foreign securities is the principal object of the corporation. Reviewing the conditions of the past year the council reported:

"The scrupulous compliance with its obligations by the government of Venezuela, the punctual remittance of the sum required to cover the annual debt service by Guatemala, and the return to full payments by Colombia and Liberia are satisfactory features of the year. Costa Rica, too, has provided the funds required for the payment of the half-yearly coupons well ahead of their due dates."

"Unfortunately, some of the Latin-American countries have stopped payments altogether. Paraguay, after a creditable record extending over some eighteen years has completely suspended payment of the service on its external debt."

"Ecuador has continued in default during the past year on the whole of its external obligations."

"Nicaragua has been unable to carry out the agreement made with bondholders in 1915. This, however, is due to the fact that the money owing to the republic since June 22, 1916, under the treaty with the United States, has not been paid."

"Honduras has entered on the forty-fourth year of uninterrupted default, and its record in this respect is only surpassed by some of the southern states of the United States of America."

"As to Mexico, the condition of affairs has shown little if any improvement during the past year."

"The council reported that 'nine states in the United States of America are in default on certain of their obligations,' that Montenegro has defaulted since the outbreak of the war, while Bahia, Brazil, Paraguay, Salvador and Uruguay are only making part payments."

By Associated Press.

Chicago, April 28.—Arguing that the country's supply of poultry is threatened by an undue slaughter of roosters, H. B. Patton of Bloomington, Ill., president of the National Poultry, Butter and Egg association, has issued a warning in the current number of the association's bulletin in which he pleads for the monarch of the barnyard.

"I am not arguing which was first, the egg or the chicken," says Mr. Patton, "but the question does loom up before me, which is most to be considered, the chicken or the egg."

After referring to the practice of killing a large percentage of roosters in the spring in the interest of egg producers, some sections having gone so far as to consider the establishment of a "swat the rooster day," the association's head said:

"Not many years ago central Illinois furnished a good supply of poultry until March 1, but of late by January 1 the harvest is past and but little poultry is left for the gleaners."

"I have a suspicion that 'swatting the rooster' has had no small part in bringing about this change in the late season's supply. In these days of under production and over consumption a full poultry crop is desirable and needed to help feed the world."

AT THE HIPPODROME.

William S. Hart in "The Desert Man," at the Hippodrome Sunday and Monday.

Amusements

"THE DESERT MAN"
AT HIPPODROME

The big westerner, "Bill" Hart, gives another forceful characterization in his new picture, "The Desert Man," showing at the Hippodrome theatre today and tomorrow. The play bristles with action, and is set in wide vistas of picturesque desert country.

The story concerns a man, firm of will and high of character, who comes across the desert to the desolate and forlorn little town of Broken Hope, and by faith in himself and the people rotates it to greater endeavor and prosperity. He drives the bully out, takes charge of affairs, and rechristens the place Believeville. He also finds a young girl, true and tender, but loses her before he has realized that he is in love with her. The big scene comes when he learns that a man, Tacoma Jake, has come to the revived little town to build a dance hall and saloon. The wills of the two men clash, and the result is action that is real earnest, and thrills that are actual and stirring.

Hart's marksmanship surprised even himself in this picture. It is said, and certainly it will surprise those who witness it. Margery Wilson and Milton Ross have the chief roles in the support, but a very small boy, Buster Irving, is very important as little Joey.

GRAY HAIR
MADE DARK

BY APPLYING LA CREOLE—NO
DYE, REVIVES COLOR GLANDS, STOPS DANDRUFF.

Is your hair entirely gray, or just gray in spots? Is your hair prematurely gray from ill health or worry? Are you troubled with dandruff, falling hair or itching scalp? Has your hair stopped growing, or are you bald? Then apply to your hair and scalp the famous La Creole Hair Dressing (simple directions on bottle). This revives the color glands to activity, so that all your gray hair and every strand of your hair soon has the natural, soft, lustrous, even, dark color your hair used to have. La Creole produces such a perfect change in all your gray hair that not even a trace of gray shows, but you will have a fine, soft, fluffy, heavy, evenly dark head of hair. Besides, La Creole stops dandruff or itching scalp. Also causes new hair to sprout all over your head, giving you a handsome, beautiful, healthy, dark head of hair. Sold on a money-back guarantee by drug stores everywhere or sent prepaid for $1 by Van Vleet Drug Co. Memphis, Tenn.

"I OWE MY PRESENT GOOD HEALTH TO TANLAC" HE SAYS

WACO MAN SAYS HE TRIED PATCHING UP WITH ONE THING AND ANOTHER FOR A YEAR OR MORE BUT JUST FELT MISERABLE ALL THE TIME.

"I wasn't exactly sick, but was in just that condition that unfits a man for work and makes life miserable," said G. C. Merritt, a well known machinist of 816 Cleveland street, in an interview with a Tanlac representative a few days ago.

"I was in a general run-down condition and suffered from stomach trouble for a year or more," he continued. "My food would sour and I was constantly belching up sour gas and my stomach felt heavy and had a burning sensation all the time. I hardly ever slept well because I was so nervous and I was irritable and out of sorts a lot of the time. I had awful backache, my arms and legs hurt and I felt draggy and sluggish all the time. I kept patching up with one thing and another and managed to stay on my feet, but if I had given up to my feelings I would have spent a good part of my time in bed."

"Tanlac has gradually relieved me and built me up until my troubles are entirely gone and I feel just like a different man. My appetite is fine, I have gained several pounds in weight and my strength and energy have come back to me. All the pains have disappeared from my back and limbs. I'm not nervous any more and I sleep as sound as a dollar. My stomach is in first-class condition and I can eat what I want and digest it perfectly. All that tenderness and heavy burning sensation are gone and I owe my present good feelings and health to nothing but Tanlac."

A dull, dragging feeling of the body, a sluggish mind and dull memory, despondency, depression of spirits, nervousness, stomach trouble, backache and headaches are among the various symptoms of the condition from which a surprisingly large number of people suffer. Tanlac is designed expressly to overcome these troubles and in each case where it has been used the medicine has accomplished surprising and gratifying results.

Again, there is no season of the year when Tanlac can be taken to better advantage than right now. In the springtime all mankind, after weathering the storms of winter, is in need of an upbuilding tonic. It will prove invaluable to persons suffering from the after effects of pneumonia, la grippe, catarrh and bronchial troubles and thousands have testified to the benefits they have derived from its use. FEVERISH ADVANCES IN WHEAT MARKET YESTERDAY

Chicago, April 28.—Feverish advances of 1 1/2c here in the price of wheat today were followed by a sudden collapse of 15 1/2c, owing largely to official denials that the extent allied had been purchasing future deliveries at Winnipeg and because of action of the Winnipeg exchange in summarily prohibiting all speculative trade. A wild finish in the Chicago market resulted, with the market varying from 2 1/2c under yesterday's close to 7c to 1c up and oats off 1 1/2c. In provisions, the outcome ranged from 7 cents decline to an equal gain.

STRENGTH IN ORLEANS COTTON SHOWN SATURDAY

New Orleans, April 28.—Strength was shown by cotton here today, and prices were forced nearly $2 a bale higher on the most active months in the contract market by fear of colder weather in the belt and a marked improvement in the spot demand at higher quotations. Steadiness was maintained at the close, which was at a net gain of 19 to 35 points. At the highest levels the market was 24 to 27 points up.

CITY OFFICIALS INSPECT PLANT

MAYOR DOLLINS AND ENGINEER GURLEY RETURN FROM CLEBURNE TRIP.

Mayor John Dollins, City Engineer George B. Gurley and the members of the city commission were well pleased with the inspection of the sewage disposal plant at Cleburne, which cost about $35,000 to $40,000.

The Inhoff tanks are used there in the first treatment of sewage, and Mayor Dollins said yesterday that the cost of operation is very slight, all things considered. He said, further, that while the Waco plant could probably be built for $75,000, that there would be a lot more expense in making the necessary sewer connections with the plant.

Engineers are making observations on the Waco situation, and chances now seem to be that the matter of building the sewage disposal plant for this city will be put up to the voters for a bond issue authorization before long.

Husband's Soft Answer.

She was waiting for him. Gathering her brows like gathering storm, nursing her wrath to keep it warm, and when he entered the room she began:

"This is a nice time of night—" "I—er—know I'm late," he hastily interrupted, "but I couldn't help it, my dear, Club had—er—big discussion, on female beauty."

"And what had you to do with that?" demanded the fretful wife.

"More'n any one there. I was the one—er—who had the most beautiful wife, an'—er—course, the best authority on female beauty, an'—"

"Why don't you take off your overcoat, Henry? Let me get your slippers for you. It's awful cold outside; I think you must be half frozen."

Half a minute later Henry was safely ensconced in his easy chair with his wife at his feet putting his slippers on.—Philadelphia Inquirer.

HOLLANDERS CELEBRATE.

The Hague, April 28.—Holland has just been commemorating in quiet fashion the 250th anniversary of the day on which Dutch Guiana came into its possession. The commemoration is sober largely because, as is frankly recognized, there is little reason to jubilate over a colony that more or less of a burden. Of late signs of American interest have been noted with pleasure. Truly a small part of the large territory has been brought under cultivation, and the level of the development of the mass of the population is still very low. In this connection one leading Rotterdam journal utters a warning regarding the possibility of Dutch Guiana passing into other hands.

Do You Pay Your Bills?

Honest Folks Pay

HONEST INDIVIDUALS PAY THEIR BILLS.

Just obligations are settled by JUST PEOPLE.

The merchant you bought from, the banker you borrowed from and the doctor you called into your home, all believed you were honest and that you would pay.

Under this belief you were credited, and when you begin to lag, your creditors put you in the slow and undesirable class.

It Is Not Honest

DO you think that it is honest to take merchandise out of a store and then not pay for it?

Merchandise represents money.

Can you neglect your obligation to your merchant, your banker or your doctor and expect to be classed as a "Good Honest Fellow?" There is something lacking in the make-up of the man who is indifferent to his financial affairs.

Being the Fifteenth and Continuation of a Series of Talks on Bills and the Prompt Payment of Them.

See Your Creditors

The business men of this city are lenient almost to a fault. They have been imposed upon time and time again—yet with unfailing FAITH in the majority of mankind they continue extending credit.

The MAJORITY IS HONEST. DEAD BEATS, DEBT DODGERS and CROOKS are in the minority.

The merchants of this city also realize that misfortune can cross an individual's path. They fully realize that some unforeseen things can arise over which the individual has no control and as a consequence make PROMPT PAYING OF OBLIGATIONS almost impossible. To such they extend a most lenient hand. If you have a real bona fide "hard luck" story—if you are placed in the embarrassing position of not being able to promptly meet your bills, YOU SHOULD SEE YOUR CREDITORS. Tell them what you can do and when. They'll meet you half way—yes, more—they'll go the limit for you—BECAUSE THEY BELIEVE YOU ARE HONEST.

Only business and professional men of poor judgment and short-sightedness want a man to get in bad. The REAL BUSINESS MAN—THE SUCCESSFUL BUSINESS MAN—will always lend the helping hand.

Don't ruin your credit by neglecting notices. If you can't pay—see your creditor.

DR. H. W. SMITH DIES SATURDAY

LOCAL PHYSICIAN SUCCUMBS
TO ACUTE INDIGESTION
YESTERDAY.

Dr. H. W. Smith succumbed to an attack of acute indigestion at 3 o'clock yesterday morning at his residence, Seventeenth and Fort avenue. Dr. Smith was 68 years old, and had been in Texas for nearly half a century, coming here when 29 years of age. He was born in Louisiana on January 10, 1849, and had lived in Waco twenty-seven years. In 1878 he was married to Miss Amanda White, in Chambers county, Texas.

Funeral arrangements are held in abeyance pending the arrival of some of the children. The surviving children are A. K. Smith, El Paso; H. W. Smith Jr., Oklahoma; Mrs. Louis Westbrook, Lorena; Miss Polly Smith, Waco. Miss Polly Smith is at present attending college at Hollins, Va.

Dr. Smith had for the past few years spent much of his time at Smith's Mineral Wells southwest of Waco.

THOMAS BURROWS DIES.

Thomas Burrows, aged 89 years, died at 2 o'clock yesterday morning at the residence of his nephew, Sidney Burrows, 2700 Austin street. Funeral services were held yesterday afternoon at 5 o'clock, conducted by Rev. F. N. Calvin, pastor of the Central Christian church.

Mr. Burrows was unmarried. He is survived by his nephews, Sidney and Will Burrows. He had been a resident of Texas since 1851, and was a member of the famous Texas Terry Rangers during the war. He was born in Selma, Ala. For many years he was a farmer in the Hewitt neighborhood, but after he became too old to farm he removed to Waco and had been making his home with Sidney Burrows.

CROSS, FEVERISH CHILD IS BILIOUS OR CONSTIPATED

LOOK, MOTHER! SEE IF TONGUE IS COATED, BREATH HOT OR STOMACH SOUR.

"California Syrup of Figs" Can't Harm
Tender Stomach, Liver Bowels.

Every mother realizes, after giving her children "California Syrup of Figs" that this is their ideal laxative, because they love its pleasant taste and it thoroughly cleanses the tender little stomach, liver and bowels without griping.

When cross, irritable, feverish, or breath is bad, stomach sour, look at the tongue, mother! If coated, give a teaspoonful of this harmless "fruit laxative," and in a few hours all the foul, constipated waste, sour bile and undigested food passed out of the bowels, and you have a well, playful child again. When the little system is full of cold, throat sore, has stomach-ache, diarrhoea, indigestion, colic, remember, a good "inside cleanser" should always be the first treatment given.

Millions of mothers keep "California Syrup of Figs" handy; they know a teaspoonful today saves a sick child tomorrow. Ask your druggist for a 50-cent bottle of "California Syrup of Figs," which has directions for babies, children of all ages and grown-ups printed in the bottle. Beware of counterfeits sold here, so don't be fooled. Get the genuine, made by "California Fig Syrup Company."
